50 Miles From Hanoi

U.S. Navy Bombers Hit Bridges, Other North Viet Targets

South Area Also Object Of Attacks

Pilots Encounter Slight Groundfire; All Return Safely

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Navy planes struck bridges 50 and 55 miles from Hanoi today and also hit other military targets in North Viet Nam.

Officials also reported that over a 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m., 230 attacks were made on Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam.

In North Viet Nam, 19 U.S. Navy planes struck at a highway bridge 50 miles south of the Red capital, but there was no report whether the structure was damaged.

Ten other Navy planes bombed the Ninh Binh bridge 55 miles below Hanoi. The pilots claimed destruction of one of the three spans.

Other U.S. airmen claimed they knocked out a bridge and bombed out Highway 7 at a point 70 miles northwest of Vinh. They also reported damaging strikes against approaches to two bridges and three buildings at Dong Hoi airfield 225 miles southwest of Hanoi.

The pilots encountered only moderate groundfire and all returned safely, U.S. spokesmen said.

Eight Navy planes from the U.S. carrier Midway ranged before dawn over a 110-mile stretch farther south of Hanoi, hitting a barracks area, a truck convoy and a barge.

All the planes returned safely to the Midway.

Vietnamese troops picked their way through the devastated Tuan Loi rubber plantation in the Dong Xoai region today and found the bodies of 30 paratroopers killed by the Viet Cong Saturday.

No contact was reported with the Communists. A total of 220 paratroopers still are missing following the battle of Dong Xoai.

The Viet Cong took the offensive 200 miles north of Saigon, driving militiamen from an outpost in Phu Bon Province.

No Plans To Escalate Bombings

Johnson Says Air Strikes Slow Infiltration In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told influential members of Congress he believes U.S. air strikes have made it much more difficult for the North Vietnamese to reinforce the Viet Cong.

Johnson was represented by recent visitors as giving no indication of immediate plans to escalate the bombings by directing them at military installations around Hanoi.

Such a course has been urged by Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee. Goldwater has proposed that the United States warn the North Vietnamese that Hanoi, their capital, would be bombed unless they quit aiding Communist troops in South Viet Nam.

Johnson apparently hasn't given this proposal enough notice to comment on it even privately to the legislators he has briefed on the Southeastern Asia hostilities.

Some recent White House visitors said they noted a changed attitude on the part of the President. They said that while he obviously was deeply worried about the military setbacks the South Vietnamese forces have suffered in recent Viet Cong attacks, he had adopted what they described as an attitude of calm determination.

This contrasted, they reported, with intense presidential reaction in recent weeks to criticisms of his policies by some liberals and professors and in some segments of the press. Their conclusion is that Johnson has decided he has been paying too much attention to his critics.

This doesn't mean that he has lessened his efforts to enlist support from responsible members of Congress who have some reservations about where his course is leading.

The President had Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in for a briefing Monday. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey sat in. Fulbright has been against any massive escalation of the war.

All Fulbright would say was that there had been a general discussion of international matters.

What appeared to be a break in the almost solid Republican support of Johnson's policies came to light Monday. Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said in a statement, "We may be dangerously close to ending any Republican support of our present Viet Nam policy."

Laird, who heads the House GOP Conference, said this possibility exists "because the American people do not know how far the administration is prepared to go with large-scale use of ground forces in order to save face in Viet Nam."

In the face of this, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told reporters that Senate Republicans will continue to "uphold the hands of the President." Dirksen said he sees no wavering of support among his colleagues.

Astronauts Help Dedicate Space Building

2 'Old Grads' Welcomed Back To Michigan Campus

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan welcomes back today two "old grads" known the world over.

They are astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, returning in pomp and ceremony to the campus they left in 1959. They will help their alma mater dedicate a new $1.7-million Space Research Building.

The Gemini 4 crewmen, who circled the earth four days, were to be hailed in Michigan's 101,001-seat stadium and to receive newly created honorary degrees of doctor of astronautical science.

Gemini pilot McDivitt was graduated No. 1 in a class of 606 when he won a bachelor's degree in aeronautical engineering here six years ago, and spacewalker White was seventh among graduate students receiving a master's in the same science at the same time.

The two flew here from a tumultuous, ticker - tape welcome back to earth in Chicago Monday. They were accompanied by families and parents.

At Chicago, the cheering crowds which lined highways and crammed into stores and offices lining the route of the astronauts were described by officials as the largest public welcoming in the city's history. Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey also joined the celebration.

Civil rights leaders who had staged school protest marches last week in Chicago decided at the last moment to postpone a scheduled march. Earlier demonstrations had resulted in nearly 450 arrests in three days.

It was a week ago Monday that McDivitt, 36, and White, 34, splashed down in the Atlantic, America's newst heroes.

Most of their time since, except to receive from President Johnson Air Force promotions from major to lieutenant colonel, had been spent in dredging from memory the minute events of their flight for experts of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Wednesday, McDivittt goes to nearby Jackson, Mich., to receive the plaudits of hometown folk, and White goes to his native San Antonio, Tex., for a similar reception, complete with parade.

Michigan pulled out all the stops for today's ceremonies.

Gov. George Romney, on both airport and stadium welcoming committees, authorized a half-day off with pay for state employes in 111 surrounding counties.

The University of Michigan told both faculty and students morning class cuts were excusable.

Ceremonies were shifted to the gigantic stadium when a howl greeted plans to stage them in an auditorium on an invitation-only basis.

With the site change, officially credited to "tremendous public interest," plans for a parade were canceled. The astronauts, however, will go by motorcade to the university's north campus for dedication of the NASA-financed Space Research Building.

New Trial Bid Eyed By Trio In Bomb Plot

Face 10 Years In Threat To Blow Up National Shrines

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense attorneys say they will seek a new trial for three members of the Black Liberation Front who face up to 10 years in prison on convictions of conspiracy to blow up U.S. national shrines.

U.S. Dist. Judge William B. Herlands turned down moves to set aside the guilty verdict, reported by a jury of 11 men and one woman Monday night.

The three men, all New York City Negroes, were convicted of conspiring to blow up the Statue of Liberty, the Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia — all government property.

They also were convicted of smuggling dynamite from Canada for the planned demolition.

The three men could be sentenced to a maximum of five years in prison and a fine of $10,000 on each of the two counts in the indictment. They were jailed to await sentencing Thursday.

The three — who allegedly cooked up the plot as a protest against racial discrimination — are: Robert S. Collier, 28, the alleged ringleader and a former employe of the New York City Public Library; Walter A. Bowe, 32, who was a judo instructor at an East Side Manhattan settlement and a supporter of the pro-Castro Fair Play for Cuba Committee; and Khaleel A. Sayyed, 22, on leave from electrical engineering studies at Howard University, Washington, D.C.

Also to be sentenced Thursday is Michelle Duclos, 26, a Canadian white woman who has been active in a Quebec Province separatist movement.

Miss Duclos pleaded guilty to smuggling dynamite from Canada in connection with the destruction plot and testified for the government at the 18-day trial.

Senate-House Clash Looms Over Aid Bill

Upper Group OKs Measure; Adds 3 Major Provisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid authorization bill moves into a new area of ideological conflict between the House and Senate this week.

Passed by the Senate 68 to 20 Monday night, the $3.24-billion-a-year bill contains these major provisions not in the previously passed House version:

—A two - year authorization, rather than one year as in the past. House foreign aid leaders might not be too reluctant to go along with this, but it is coupled with:

— A two-year deadline, under which the foreign aid program will terminate in its present form. A 16-member special commission would be set up to map the future of the program and make recommendations.

— A far-reaching amendment giving the Organization of American States an important new role in channeling $25 million of U.S. military assistance out of the $55 million provided in the bill for Latin-American countries.

Lineman Dies As Cable Hits High Voltage

SALEM — A 45-year-old repairman employed by the Ohio Edison Co. was electrocuted about 2:50 p. m. Monday while helping to replace a power pole broken Saturday night in a traffic accident a mile and a half south of Salem on Route 45.

Dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital was Charles Edwin Craig, 45, of Lowellville. He was brought to the hospital in an ambulance. Use of an inhalator by Salem firemen and heart massage given by Ohio Edison employes were continued en route to the hospital. When firemen arrived at the scene, Ohio Edison employes were giving mouth respiration and heart massage.

The pole was snapped about 11 p.m. Saturday when a car driven by Harold E. Headly, 25, of Windham went off the roadway.

Craig reportedly was electrocuted when a cable he was holding touched a 4,800-volt power line. Harry Smith, district line superintendent of Ohio Edison, said the company is continuing its investigation.

Also treated at Salem City Hospital in connection with the same accident was Paul Heim,

Officer Nabs City Man, 38, For Entry Bid

Hayes Commended After Foot Pursuit Overtakes Suspect

A 38-year-old East Liverpool man was pursued on foot, overpowered in a struggle and placed under arrest early today by an officer who observed him break a pane of glass in an attempted burglary of an auto agency, police reported.

Lt. William E. McDaniel identified the suspect as Frederick Ash, 412 College St., apprehended about 12:55 this morning by Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes after he allegedly attempted to break into the rear of a building of Mike Turk, Inc., at E. 6th and Walnut Sts.

Hayes reported he was on a foot beat when he observed the suspect at Broadway and E. 5th St. Thinking the man was acting suspiciously, he watched while Ash walked into the narrow space between the Turk building and an adjoining service station — a narrow spot occupied by an old railroad siding.

The officer said he saw the man break a 10-x-34-inch pane of glass in a basement door leading in the service department of the auto agency. Then the man reached inside in an attempt to manipulate the lock, he said. Hayes said he shouted to the man to halt, but the suspect fled on foot.

With the patrolman in pursuit, the man ran west through a used car lot to Broadway, then turned south. The patrolman said he overtook the suspect at E. 6th St. and Broadway, where he overpowered the man and placed him under arrest after a brief struggle.

McDaniel was in a cruiser on E. 5th St. at Broadway when he observed the struggle a block away between the patrolman and the suspect. Thinking it was a sidewalk brawl, he drove to the spot, then learned it was a battle between the officer and the man he had been pursuing.

The lieutenant said by the time he arrived Hayes had the suspect under control. The two took the man to headquarters.

Planners' Survey Shows

Parking Space Saturated In Central Business Area

Utilization of parking spaces in the central business area virtually has reached the saturation point, with 90 per cent of the meters taken on a typical day even before the stores were open, the City Planning Commission was told Monday night.

The parking data was reported to the commission at a meeting at City Hall as the result of a 12-hour survey on Thursday, May 20, directed by Daniel Ziegler II, representing the city's master plan consultant, Carroll V. Hill & Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus.

Ziegler explained he and an associate made actual counts each hour of the number of autos occupying all the available spaces in the downtown area bounded by Jefferson St. on the west, Walnut St. on the east, E. and W. 3rd St. on the south and the Horn Switch and Bradshaw Ave.-Walnut St. on the north.

He said there are 304 unmetered spots in the area and 517 with meters. Of the metered spots, 71 are for one hour, 410 are for two hours and 36 are for 10 hours, he related. There are 96 metered spaces on city-owned off-street lots and 633 spaces on privately - owned off-street lots.

The survey showed the Thursday parking hit its low ebb in all spots between 5 and 6 p. m., apparently because of the dinner hour, he explained. The study was made on a day when, generally speaking, East Liverpool stores are open from 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The one-hour meters on E. 5th and 6th Sts. and Washington St. were occupied 100 per cent for each of five hours, he said. The occupancy never fell below 90 per cent and that was at a time before the stores were open, he added.

Utilization of the two - hour meters hit a high of 91 per cent between 7 and 8 p. m. The low was 58 per cent between 8 and 9 a.m., also before stores were open.

The 10-hour on-street meters, located primarily at Jackson and W. 4th Sts., showed a high utilization of 81 per cent at 2 p. m.

Use of the city's off - street facilities hit a peak of 89 per cent at 4 p. m. The privately-owned off-street lots hit a high of 74 per cent at 11 a. m. and 2 p. m.

"This study tells us there is a definite need for additional parking facilities," Ziegler commented. "Additional space is needed most critically near the area where the spots already are at the saturation point."

He commented offhand that multi - storied parking areas might be a wise investment for East Liverpool, with erection of structures atop the sites already in use. However, he said, he has made no investigation of costs.

Ziegler commented that the survey showed the Ceramic Lot was occupied "practically 100 per cent all day," while the lowest utilization of an off - street facility was found on the two small sites at 3rd and Market

Rail Receives 2-Year Term In Fund Case

William Rail of Huntington Park, Calif., former second vice president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, was sentenced to a two-year prison term Monday in U.S. District Court at Los Angeles on two counts of embezzling $16,700 in union funds.

The sentence, to be served in an unspecified federal prison, was imposed upon Rail by Federal Judge Jesse W. Curtis.

Rail had pleaded guilty earlier to the two counts of a 12-count indictment returned against him on April 14. He originally was due for sentencing on June 7, but his appearance was postponed until yesterday.

Rail resigned from the IBOP office on June 1, 1964, asserting he was acting under his physician's advice. As second vice president, he had been in charge of the IBOP's West Coast office. He now has been succeeded by Bernard Rowbottom, who formerly was 10th vice president.

The first count on which Rail pleaded guilty accused him of "unlawfully and willfully embezzling and converting to his own use" the sum of $6,700 in IBOP funds on April 22, 1963. The second count charged him with embezzling $10,000 on Jan. 15, 1964.

The Labor Department's regional office in Cleveland investigated Rail's actions rela-

Crew Opens Surveys For Span On W. 9th

A survey crew from the engineering firm of W. E. Quicksell & Associates of New Philadelphia started field work Monday in West End that will lead to preparation of detailed plans for an auto - pedestrian ramp over the California Hollow Freeway, to tie together the two dead - end sections of W. 9th St.

Overall cost of the span has been estimated at $275,000. The city will provide the plans at an estimated cost of $12,500, representing its share. The balance of the cost will be paid from state and federal funds.

The State Highway Department has indicated it will proceed with the project as soon as the plans are ready. Council recently authorized the administration to engage the New Philadelphia firm.

Mrs. Dunlop To Run Again

Will Ask New Term On School Board

Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop of Highland Colony, vice president of the Board of Education, filed Monday with the County Election Board for a new four-year term.

Mrs. Dunlop is the third to file for two seats which will be filled at the Nov. 2 general election. Harry D. McConville, president, filed earlier for a new term along with Richard Keith Wolf, who is making his first bid for public office.

Retired credit-office manager of the D. M. Ogilvie & Co., Mrs. Dunlop is past president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs and has been active in the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Travelers Club.

She is a member of the First United Presbyterian Church and the mother of a married daughter.

The first woman to serve on the board in more than three decades, Mrs. Dunlop began her present term Jan. 3, 1962, and was elected vice president in January 1964.

Heart Attack Fatal At 86

H. V. Kaltenborn Dies; Noted As Commentator

NEW YORK (AP)—H. V. Kaltenborn, dean of radio commentators, died Monday at the age of 86.

Kaltenborn suffered a heart attack while visiting a son here.

On his qualifications for broadcasting, Hans Von Kaltenborn once noted that the wife of the mayor of Fairbanks, Alaska, told him as they danced: "Boy, you're some spieler."

"I wish I could be as sure of a few things as that guy is about everything," a colleague once said after hearing Kaltenborn detail in his clipped, dignified accent the domestic and foreign policies that President Franklin D. Roosevelt would pursue in 1933.

Known for his ability to read a bulletin and quickly launch into an analysis of the story, he once said: "I would say whatever came into my head. However, I had my head trained so that I didn't get into too much trouble."

Kaltenborn never worked from a script. He said during an 86th birthday interview last July 9: "I always have to laugh at the boys now because they always have to get something

50 Miles From Hanoi

U.S. Navy Bombers Hit Bridges, Other North Viet Targets

South Area Also Object Of Attacks

Pilots Encounter Slight Groundfire; All Return Safely

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Navy planes struck bridges 50 and 55 miles from Hanoi today and also hit other military targets in North Viet Nam.

Officials also reported that over a 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m., 230 attacks were made on Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam.

In North Viet Nam, 19 U.S. Navy planes struck at a highway bridge 50 miles south of the Red capital, but there was no report whether the structure was damaged.

Ten other Navy planes bombed the Ninh Binh bridge 55 miles below Hanoi. The pilots claimed destruction of one of the three spans.

Other U.S. airmen claimed they knocked out a bridge and bombed out Highway 7 at a point 70 miles northwest of Vinh. They also reported damaging strikes against approaches to two bridges and three buildings at Dong Hoi airfield 225 miles southwest of Hanoi.

The pilots encountered only moderate groundfire and all returned safely, U.S. spokesmen said.

Eight Navy planes from the U.S. carrier Midway ranged before dawn over a 110-mile stretch farther south of Hanoi, hitting a barracks area, a truck convoy and a barge.

All the planes returned safely to the Midway.

Vietnamese troops picked their way through the devastated Tuan Loi rubber plantation in the Dong Xoai region today and found the bodies of 30 paratroopers killed by the Viet Cong Saturday.

No contact was reported with the Communists. A total of 220 paratroopers still are missing following the battle of Dong Xoai.

The Viet Cong took the offensive 200 miles north of Saigon, driving militiamen from an outpost in Phu Bon Province.

No Plans To Escalate Bombings

Johnson Says Air Strikes Slow Infiltration In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told influential members of Congress he believes U.S. air strikes have made it much more difficult for the North Vietnamese to reinforce the Viet Cong.

Johnson was represented by recent visitors as giving no indication of immediate plans to escalate the bombings by directing them at military installations around Hanoi.

Such a course has been urged by Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee. Goldwater has proposed that the United States warn the North Vietnamese that Hanoi, their capital, would be bombed unless they quit aiding Communist troops in South Viet Nam.

Johnson apparently hasn't given this proposal enough notice to comment on it even privately to the legislators he has briefed on the Southeastern Asia hostilities.

Some recent White House visitors said they noted a changed attitude on the part of the President. They said that while he obviously was deeply worried about the military setbacks the South Vietnamese forces have suffered in recent Viet Cong attacks, he had adopted what they described as an attitude of calm determination.

This contrasted, they reported, with intense presidential reaction in recent weeks to criticisms of his policies by some liberals and professors and in some segments of the press. Their conclusion is that Johnson has decided he has been paying too much attention to his critics.

This doesn't mean that he has lessened his efforts to enlist support from responsible members of Congress who have some reservations about where his course is leading.

The President had Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in for a briefing Monday. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey sat in. Fulbright has been against any massive escalation of the war.

All Fulbright would say was that there had been a general discussion of international matters.

What appeared to be a break in the almost solid Republican support of Johnson's policies came to light Monday. Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said in a statement, "We may be dangerously close to ending any Republican support of our present Viet Nam policy."

Laird, who heads the House GOP Conference, said this possibility exists "because the American people do not know how far the administration is prepared to go with large-scale use of ground forces in order to save face in Viet Nam."

In the face of this, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told reporters that Senate Republicans will continue to "uphold the hands of the President." Dirksen said he sees no wavering of support among his colleagues.

Astronauts Help Dedicate Space Building

2 'Old Grads' Welcomed Back To Michigan Campus

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan welcomes back today two "old grads" known the world over.

They are astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, returning in pomp and ceremony to the campus they left in 1959. They will help their alma mater dedicate a new $1.7-million Space Research Building.

The Gemini 4 crewmen, who circled the earth four days, were to be hailed in Michigan's 101,001-seat stadium and to receive newly created honorary degrees of doctor of astronautical science.

Gemini pilot McDivitt was graduated No. 1 in a class of 606 when he won a bachelor's degree in aeronautical engineering here six years ago, and spacewalker White was seventh among graduate students receiving a master's in the same science at the same time.

At Chicago, the cheering crowds which lined highways and crammed into stores and offices lining the route of the astronauts were described by officials as the largest public welcoming in the city's history. Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey also joined the celebration.

Civil rights leaders who had staged school protest marches last week in Chicago decided at the last moment to postpone a scheduled march. Earlier demonstrations had resulted in nearly 450 arrests in three days.

It was a week ago Monday that McDivitt, 36, and White, 34, splashed down in the Atlantic, America's newst heroes.

Most of their time since, except to receive from President Johnson Air Force promotions from major to lieutenant colonel, had been spent in dredging from memory the minute events of their flight for experts of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Wednesday, McDivittt goes to nearby Jackson, Mich., to receive the plaudits of hometown folk, and White goes to his native San Antonio, Tex., for a similar reception, complete with parade.

Michigan pulled out all the stops for today's ceremonies.

Ceremonies were shifted to the gigantic stadium when a howl greeted plans to stage them in an auditorium on an invitation-only basis.

New Trial Bid Eyed By Trio In Bomb Plot

Face 10 Years In Threat To Blow Up National Shrines

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense attorneys say they will seek a new trial for three members of the Black Liberation Front who face up to 10 years in prison on convictions of conspiracy to blow up U.S. national shrines.

A survey crew from the engineering firm of W. E. Overall cost of the span has been estimated at $275,000. The city will provide the plans at an estimated cost of $12,500, representing its share. The balance of the cost will be paid from state and federal funds.

Senate-House Clash Looms Over Aid Bill

Upper Group OKs Measure; Adds 3 Major Provisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid authorization bill moves into a new area of ideological conflict between the House and Senate this week.

Passed by the Senate 68 to 20 Monday night, the $3.24-billion-a-year bill contains these major provisions not in the previously passed House version:

—A two - year authorization, rather than one year as in the past. House foreign aid leaders might not be too reluctant to go along with this, but it is coupled with:

— A two-year deadline, under which the foreign aid program will terminate in its present form. A 16-member special commission would be set up to map the future of the program and make recommendations.

— A far-reaching amendment giving the Organization of American States an important new role in channeling $25 million of U.S. military assistance out of the $55 million provided in the bill for Latin-American countries.

Lineman Dies As Cable Hits High Voltage

SALEM — A 45-year-old repairman employed by the Ohio Edison Co. was electrocuted about 2:50 p. m. Monday while helping to replace a power pole broken Saturday night in a traffic accident a mile and a half south of Salem on Route 45.

Dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital was Charles Edwin Craig, 45, of Lowellville. He was brought to the hospital in an ambulance. Use of an inhalator by Salem firemen and heart massage given by Ohio Edison employes were continued en route to the hospital. When firemen arrived at the scene, Ohio Edison employes were giving mouth respiration and heart massage.

The pole was snapped about 11 p.m. Saturday when a car driven by Harold E. Headly, 25, of Windham went off the roadway.

Craig reportedly was electrocuted when a cable he was holding touched a 4,800-volt power line. Harry Smith, district line superintendent of Ohio Edison, said the company is continuing its investigation.

Also treated at Salem City Hospital in connection with the same accident was Paul Heim,

Officer Nabs City Man, 38, For Entry Bid

Hayes Commended After Foot Pursuit Overtakes Suspect

A 38-year-old East Liverpool man was pursued on foot, overpowered in a struggle and placed under arrest early today by an officer who observed him break a pane of glass in an attempted burglary of an auto agency, police reported.

Lt. William E. McDaniel identified the suspect as Frederick Ash, 412 College St., apprehended about 12:55 this morning by Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes after he allegedly attempted to break into the rear of a building of Mike Turk, Inc., at E. 6th and Walnut Sts.

Hayes reported he was on a foot beat when he observed the suspect at Broadway and E. 5th St. Thinking the man was acting suspiciously, he watched while Ash walked into the narrow space between the Turk building and an adjoining service station — a narrow spot occupied by an old railroad siding.

The officer said he saw the man break a 10-x-34-inch pane of glass in a basement door leading in the service department of the auto agency. Then the man reached inside in an attempt to manipulate the lock, he said. Hayes said he shouted to the man to halt, but the suspect fled on foot.

With the patrolman in pursuit, the man ran west through a used car lot to Broadway, then turned south. The patrolman said he overtook the suspect at E. 6th St. and Broadway, where he overpowered the man and placed him under arrest after a brief struggle.

McDaniel was in a cruiser on E. 5th St. at Broadway when he observed the struggle a block away between the patrolman and the suspect. Thinking it was a sidewalk brawl, he drove to the spot, then learned it was a battle between the officer and the man he had been pursuing.

The lieutenant said by the time he arrived Hayes had the suspect under control. The two took the man to headquarters.

Heart Attack Fatal At 86

H. V. Kaltenborn Dies; Noted As Commentator

NEW YORK (AP)—H. V. Kaltenborn, dean of radio commentators, died Monday at the age of 86.

Kaltenborn suffered a heart attack while visiting a son here.

On his qualifications for broadcasting, Hans Von Kaltenborn once noted that the wife of the mayor of Fairbanks, Alaska, told him as they danced: "Boy, you're some spieler."

"I wish I could be as sure of a few things as that guy is about everything," a colleague once said after hearing Kaltenborn detail in his clipped, dignified accent the domestic and foreign policies that President Franklin D. Roosevelt would pursue in 1933.

Known for his ability to read a bulletin and quickly launch into an analysis of the story, he once said: "I would say whatever came into my head. However, I had my head trained so that I didn't get into too much trouble."

Kaltenborn never worked from a script. He said during an 86th birthday interview last July 9: "I always have to laugh at the boys now because they always have to get something

Midland's Board Gives Formal OK To School Budget

An operating budget of $960,128 for the 1965-66 school year was approved by the Midland Board of Education Monday night.

The budget, based on a real estate tax of 38 mills, represents an increase of $158,214 over the 1964-65 appropriation. The actual increase, however, is only about $49,000, according to Dr. Edgar Richards, superintendent of schools, since the figures include a debt reduction of $110,635.

The budget had been approved tentatively by the board at its meeting of May 10.

IN OTHER action, the board received a letter from the Western Beaver County Board of Education rejecting a Midland proposal for a meeting of the two boards to discuss possible merger of the two districts.

The Midland board proposed earlier in the year that the two groups meet on June 21 to "discuss mutual problems of concern to the boards, relative to reorganization of school districts in Pennsylvania."

The letter from the Western Beaver School board listed several reasons for rejecting the meeting, which it contended "would prove advantageous to neither board, since they have no mutual problems."

:—

THE BOARD accepted the resignation of Paul Farnan as a teacher and coach at Lincoln High School. Farnan, head baseball and assistant basketball coach, said he submitted his resignation, effective last Friday, to accept a head coaching job and teaching position in Rosetto, Pa.

Five bids for general school supplies for the 1965-66 school term were opened and turned over to the property committee.

Mrs. Harry Green was reappointed to the Carnegie Library Board of Trustees, effective July 1, for a five-year term and Ed Cilli, board president, and Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, were authorized to negotiate for a $35,000 bank loan to be used to pay current expenses.

The Midland Education Association thanked the board for acceptance of its proposal on liability insurance for the teachers and requested a meeting with the board to discuss additional fringe benefits. Cilli was appointed to represent the board at a meeting to be arranged.

Michael Raich, board member, reported on a meeting of the Midland holiday basketball tournament committee and discussed the organization structure, changes in program and bylaws and the proposed budget for this year's tournament.

THE BOARD approved the director and personnel of the annual summer playground and recreation program. Hank Kuzma will head the program, as in the past.

The request of the Midland Band Boosters to operate the concession stand at the athletic field for the July 4 festivities was approved and another request from the organization for financial assistance from the board for the purchase of all-weather parkas for band members was referred to the property committee for further study.

Approval also was given for the high school band to participate in the annual Thanksgiving Day parade in Pittsburgh.

Samuel Rosatone, superintendent of maintenance, reported that the roof of the 7th St. School is in need of immediate repair. The board instructed Richards to confer with R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, relative to specifications for the work.

Rosatone also reported that vandals had been playing havoc with facilities and equipment at the playgrounds in the borough. After he reported that several doors, fences and roofs had been damaged, he was instructed to ask the police department to keep a closer watch on the properties.

CILLI appealed to the parents of youngsters in the area to warn them of the vandalism and asked that they try to help curb the acts.

The maintenance supervisor reported that Mayor Eli Corak had assigned 22 boys from the borough's Youth Corps Program to assist in painting at the athletic field.

Interim orders placed by the superintendent for June amounting to $748.98 were ordered paid. The Carnegie Library Board of Trustees was authorized to purchase books in the amount of $235.60 and magazine subscriptions for $425.62.

General bills in the amount of $17,281.49 were ordered paid and cash receipts in the amount of $437.02 were received.

Convention Reviewed During Post Session

Samuel Maylone, commander, reported on the 10th District convention held at Coshocton during the meeting of Wellsville American Legion Post 70 Monday night.

The post will host the 1966 convention the second week in June.

The second anniversary of the new post home will be marked with a dance Saturday night. A cocktail hour will be held from 9 to 10 p. m. Russ Ludwig's orchestra will provide the music. Special entertainment will be presented by Jack Green, known professionally as "The Musical Clown."

Group To Press Pughtown Area Water Program

An eight - member delegation will represent the Tomlinson Public Service District Wednesday at 10 a. m. during a hearing in Charleston before the West Virginia Public Service Commission, seeking approval for the $370,000 public water distribution system.

They will be asking approval of the $6.25 minimum monthly rate for the first 3,000 gallons that has been proposed to some 280 customers in the district, approval of the wholesale price for water agreed upon by the district and the city of New Cumberland, which is supplying the water, and approval of a certificate of convenience and necessity, which is needed before construction can begin.

SCHEDULED to attend the hearing are: Oliver Glass and Edwin Flowers, trustees of the Public Service District; Miss Callie Tsapis of Weirton, counsel for the district; Mrs. Leste. Hill, secretary of the trustees; Mrs. James Fink and Paul Wern, members of the district water committee, and representatives of the Cerroni and Vaughn engineering firm of Wheeling.

James Vall, the third member of the board of trustees, will be unable to attend due to the illness of his wife.

Flowers said the delegation hopes to receive a bench decision from the PSC Wednesday which will give it the authority to proceed with awarding contracts for the three phases of the project.

Low bidder for the major portion of the project—laying of the water line—is the Nardei Contracting Co. of Bridgeville, Pa., with a bid of $251,832.02. Thomas Tanks, Inc., of Columbus was low bidder for construction of a 300,000-gallon storage tank, with a bid of $21,334, and the Waterworks and Industrial Supply Co. of Huntington was low bidder on the meters at $9,336.

Low bidders have informed the board that they can begin work within 10 days following contract awards.

TRUSTEES plan to issue revenue bonds to cover the estimated $370,000 cost of the project.

They originally were scheduled to have their hearing before the PSC on July 12, but were able to have the date advanced, so that construction could begin this summer, subject to approval.

Meanwhile, the trustees announce that John H. Mayhew of Pughtown has donated a 60-by-60-foot plot of land as the site for the 300,000-gallon storage tank included in the project.

The site is on one of the highest points of elevation in the district. The trustees adopted a resolution which was sent to Mayhew commending him for his donation.

The Mayhew property has been in the family's name for several generations and is now operated by Shields Mayhew, John Mayhew's son. The Mayhews also manage the Hancock County home for the aged on the farm.

Wheat Allotment Forms Available

LISBON — The Columbiana County agriculture, stabilization and conservation office is accepting 1966 new wheat allotment applications for certain farms.

A producer who intends to seed wheat for 1966 on a farm for which a 1965 allotment was not established or where the allotment will be canceled because the farm is not entitled to wheat history acreage credit for any of the years 1963, 1964 or 1965, and who desires to be considered for an allotment, should make application, according to J. Glenn Bates, chairman of the Columbiana County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Application forms are available in the ASC office, 41 N. Park Ave. here. They must be filed by June 30, Bates said.

Sts. The two lots averaged 50 per cent utilization, with a high of 75 per cent, he said.

Ziegler also commented that a study of tax records in the Courthouse at Lisbon shows the highest property values in the city are assigned to the north side of E. 5th St. between the Diamond and Washington St.

The half-block stretch from Crook Alley to Washington St. has a value for tax purposes of $15.35 per square foot, which officials commented is about 40 per cent of its true value, he said. The assessed value of the property between the Diamond and Crook Alley is $14.75 per square foot.

The tax values fall in direct ratio to their distance from the center of the business area, Ziegler commented.

Ziegler said questionnaires have been returned by 71 businessmen in a second round survey of the central shopping area being made by a committee headed by Alvin T. Babb. Ziegler and Don Eckert, chairman of the commission, commended Babb and his committee for "a very fine job" in conducting the survey.

The commission was unable to conduct official business for lack of a quorum. However, two letters were read.

The Ohio Department of Development notified the commission it has paid $3,987 more to the Hill concern, representing the fifth installment on reimbursement for its work. The contract is 55 per cent complete, the letter said.

The commission received a petition certified from City Council in which 12 property owners asked vacation of 12 feet of the 50-foot right-of-way for Crawford Ave. in Klondyke for a distance of 210 feet. No action was taken.

In addition to Eckert, members of the commission attending were George Steele and James Grafton. Four are required for a quorum. Absent were John Parsons, William Rea, Mayor Merrill D. Hall and Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey.

The commission will not meet in July. Its next regular session will be Monday, Aug. 9.

2 Canton Residents Are Hurt In Mishap

Two Canton residents were injured in an auto accident shortly after midnight, two miles east of Chester.

Walter R. Mitchell, driver of the car, received contusions of the chest and abdomen and Eunice Blanton, a passenger, suffered bruises and cuts of the right forehead.

The two were released from City Hospital following treatment.

The mishap occurred in front of the Cactus Bar. Another car was involved, but apparently no one else was injured. Heavy damage resulted to the front end of Mitchell's car.

Mitchell and the woman were taken to the hospital by ambulance.

The Hancock County sheriff's office is continuing its investigation.

Midland's Board Gives Formal OK To School Budget

An operating budget of $960,128 for the 1965-66 school year was approved by the Midland Board of Education Monday night.

The budget, based on a real estate tax of 38 mills, represents an increase of $158,214 over the 1964-65 appropriation. The actual increase, however, is only about $49,000, according to Dr. Edgar Richards, superintendent of schools, since the figures include a debt reduction of $110,635.

The budget had been approved tentatively by the board at its meeting of May 10.

IN OTHER action, the board received a letter from the Western Beaver County Board of Education rejecting a Midland proposal for a meeting of the two boards to discuss possible merger of the two districts.

The Midland board proposed earlier in the year that the two groups meet on June 21 to "discuss mutual problems of concern to the boards, relative to reorganization of school districts in Pennsylvania."

The letter from the Western Beaver School board listed several reasons for rejecting the meeting, which it contended "would prove advantageous to neither board, since they have no mutual problems."

—:—

THE BOARD accepted the resignation of Paul Farnan as a teacher and coach at Lincoln High School. Farnan, head baseball and assistant basketball coach, said he submitted his resignation, effective last Friday, to accept a head coaching job and teaching position in Rosetto, Pa.

Five bids for general school supplies for the 1965-66 school term were opened and turned over to the property committee.

Mrs. Harry Green was reappointed to the Carnegie Library Board of Trustees, effective July 1, for a five-year term and Ed Cilli, board president, and Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, were authorized to negotiate for a $35,000 bank loan to be used to pay current expenses.

The Midland Education Association thanked the board for acceptance of its proposal on liability insurance for the teachers and requested a meeting with the board to discuss additional fringe benefits. Cilli was appointed to represent the board at a meeting to be arranged.

Michael Raich, board member, reported on a meeting of the Midland holiday basketball tournament committee and discussed the organization structure, changes in program and bylaws and the proposed budget for this year's tournament.

THE BOARD approved the director and personnel of the annual summer playground and recreation program. Hank Kuzma will head the program, as in the past.

The request of the Midland Band Boosters to operate the concession stand at the athletic field for the July 4 festivities was approved and another request from the organization for financial assistance from the board for the purchase of all-weather parkas for band members was referred to the property committee for further study.

Approval also was given for the high school band to participate in the annual Thanksgiving Day parade in Pittsburgh.

Samuel Rosatone, superintendent of maintenance, reported that the roof of the 7th St. School is in need of immediate repair. The board instructed Richards to confer with R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, relative to specifications for the work.

Rosatone also reported that vandals had been playing havoc with facilities and equipment at the playgrounds in the borough. After he reported that several doors, fences and roofs had been damaged, he was instructed to ask the police department to keep a closer watch on the properties.

CILLI appealed to the parents of youngsters in the area to warn them of the vandalism and asked that they try to help curb the acts.

The maintenance supervisor reported that Mayor Eli Corak had assigned 22 boys from the borough's Youth Corps Program to assist in painting at the athletic field.

Interim orders placed by the superintendent for June amounting to $748.98 were ordered paid. The Carnegie Library Board of Trustees was authorized to purchase books in the amount of $235.60 and magazine subscriptions for $425.62.

General bills in the amount of $17,281.49 were ordered paid and cash receipts in the amount of $437.02 were received.

Convention Reviewed During Post Session

Samuel Maylone, commander, reported on the 10th District convention held at Coshocton during the meeting of Wellsville American Legion Post 70 Monday night.

Post 70 received one of two "Post of Distinction" citations for membership and activities. The district covers 79 posts in nine counties.

The post will host the 1966 convention the second week in June.

The second anniversary of the new post home will be marked with a dance Saturday night. A cocktail hour will be held from 9 to 10 p. m. Russ Ludwig's orchestra will provide the music. Special entertainment will be presented by Jack Green, known professionally as "The Musical Clown."

Awards Presented At Graduation Rites

A graduation ceremony was held Sunday morning at the Wellsville Immaculate Conception Catholic Church for the eighth - grade class of the parochial school.

Three awards were made by Knights of Columbus Council 507.

An achievement award, a $25 savings bond, was presented to Edward Bell.

The religious award for a girl was presented to Phyllis Surrace and for a boy to James Roberts.

On A Collision Course

A collision is shaping up between opponents of reapportionment and the U.S. Supreme Court.

One of the curiosities of the American system of government is the silence of the courts until after the fact. They cannot speak until an actual case has been brought before them.

There is no way for courts to let it be known, for example, that a policy or procedure is on a collision course with a legal ruling. Judges must wait until the collision has occurred to point out what could have been pointed out before, in other circumstances.

When the Supreme Court ruled a year ago that both houses of legislatures must be based on population—one man, one vote—it was foreseen that opponents of reapportionment would call state referendums.

Chief Justice Warren thereupon pointed out that legislative districts of unequal size would not be constitutional even if established by referendum. "A citizen's constitutional rights can hardly be infringed simply because a majority of the people choose to do so," he declared.

The significance of this was ignored by all politicians who wanted to preserve systems of unequal representation.

They have been talking blandly ever since about state referendums, heedless of the judicial warning that a constitutional right cannot be wiped out by a popular vote.

Because the court's 1964 ruling was based on the 14th amendment, nothing short of repeal of the amendment could legalize what the ruling said would be illegal while the 14th amendment remained in the Constitution.

This has bearing on the Senate Judiciary Committee's forthcoming decision on proposals to undo the Supreme Court's reapportionment rulings by various methods, including referendums.

The Supreme Court already has ruled that referendums cannot wipe out a constitutional right of any individual citizen, or group of citizens.

The referendums, themselves, would be challenged.

Right And Wrong

Unless closing of some of the organizations involved should result—and this is extremely unlikely in view of the record—the primary thought that strikes home from the weekend crackdown in Hancock County is that there have been an awful lot of slot machines in operation.

Which brings up another point — regardless of how much good they may do with the revenue realized from the "slots," the clubs or other organizations which sanction their use continue to operate on a false premise.

Promoting good government with one hand and pulling the slots with the other is difficult to accept when viewed in the proper light of right and wrong.

The Showdown In Asia

South Viet Nam's latest government shakeup puts militarists in complete control, and they probably will stay there indefinitely.

The happy illusion that the South Vietnamese are fighting to preserve their political freedom can be abandoned. They cannot sustain a civil government.

The war in Viet Nam, with an all-out offensive by the Viet Cong and its North Viet Nam backers due this month, has been simmered down to the ultimate question:

Did the United States pick a battleground on which it has a chance to win a showdown with Asiatic Communists?

North Viet Nam now is calling for "volunteers" to fight in South Viet Nam.

The much-discussed bombing of North Viet Nam targets and supply routes to South Viet Nam has had no apparent effect.

The United States, having "escalated" the war to more than 50,000 of its own troops, is in a precarious position. Some estimates run as high as a million Americans to rout the Viet Cong and its backers in Southeast Asia. All etimate agree the job cannot be done without continued "escalation."

It is like the adage that he who shoots at a king must kill him.

He who commits himself to defeat Communists must defeat them or lose status.

Can the United States beat Communists in Southeast Asia?

As far as South Viet Nam is concerned, that now is the only question. Its last hope of a patched-up civil government has been shattered. From now on, the country is under military rule — and generals' jealousies and plottings are just as mischievous and irresponsible as civilians' conspiracies.

LBJ Afloat

The presidential yacht John F. Kennedy called "Honey Fitz" in honor of his grandfather and Dwight D. Eisenhower called "Barbara Anne" for his granddaughter is being put back into commission.

President Johnson had said he had no use for a yacht, but it was a good bet he would change his mind. How could a dry-land Texan shut out the temptation to cruise on deep water, after he had conquered both land and air?

No name has been picked for the yacht when it flies the house flag of the Johnsons. Wags will have suggestions, but they will be wasted.

One possible name stands out above all the rest—LBJ.

We have an LBJ ranch.

We have LBJ in Washington, a serial story that reaches a thumping climax in each installment.

We have LBJ on horseback, LBJ at the barbecue pit, LBJ afoot, LBJ aloft and for a few days last winter we had LBJ in bed.

But yachting is a dimension no one had thought of.

LBJ afloat. That has to be it.

We can hear LBJ now if the water gets choppy: "Come, let us reason together."

Commencement

By Truman Twill

No one can be dead certain about a thing like this, but wasn't commencement more fun when it was the beginning of something?

I'm raising the question, not answering it.

People used to tuck diplomas under their arms and go forth into the world and slay dragons.

Now they turn in their certificate of study on additional study. No one commences anything. Graduates keep on going to school.

Even dropouts find out the hard way that they aren't going to be let alone to enjoy static ignorance. They are going to be salvaged with more of the same that didn't work before, it says here in the blueprint for the Great Society.

Brighties, of course, go to graduate schools, then to post-graduate schools, then into research and ultimately into teaching. This is expected of them. They must not waste their talents.

Even eager beavers ready to gnaw down the world are waved off until they have sharpened their teeth with more academic drilling.

Newly graduate doctors itching to prescribe miracle drugs and get busy with their new tools are shunted into hospitals for more years of training.

The only place where a young man is on his own is in the military forces of the United States, which puts them in charge of saving freedom in remote places with no seasoning—but with a stern admonition to keep moving in case the enemy sets up an ambush.

All this happens, it is explained, because this is the age of science and everybody ever knew before.

There's another explanation.

It's because people already on the job are conspiring to freeze out the competition as long as they can. They keep raising the educational ante to discourage the ribbon clerks, as they say in poker games.

In addition to discouragement from this source, there's uncertainty on the part of the young people, themselves. They aren't sure what they want to do or how to start.

They fidget and stall. They go to the water cooler and the pencil sharpener. They take one more year of school, one more batch of credits, one more degree, one more special project, to postpone the moment of truth when they must announce, "I'm ready, world" and the world doesn't give a whoop.

But the world never did give a whoop. This didn't use to bother people who were ready to commence their careers. They kicked the world, gouged it, cajoled and flattered it until it noticed them.

They didn't dodge the showdown by staying in the groves of Academe. And the people already making a living didn't keep raising the ante, either.

Would you believe it? American civilization as we know it was built by ignoramuses whose only credentials were high school diplomas? They're the same ones who now require all job applicants to have advanced training.

No single country in the world is called home by so many people as China. More than one-fifth of all the people in the world live in this country. It is an old civilization with a continuous written history of about 4,000 years. The name "China" was given by foreigners who first heard of the country when it was under the leadership of a dynasty named "Ch'in."

The most famous American to die "on the field of honor" was Alexander Hamilton, the first U.S. secretary of the treasury. He was killed in a pistol duel with the vice president of the U.S., Aaron Burr, in 1804. Hamilton was mortally wounded on precisely the same spot where three years earlier his son also had been killed in a duel.

The largest underground factory ever built was the Hittelwerk Factory, near Nordhausen in the Kohnstein Hills, in Germany, during World War II. Built with concentration camp labor, it had a floor area of 1,270,000 square feet and produced 900 V-2 rockets per month.

The famous "Old Faithful" geyser, in Yellowstone National Park, sends up a column varying from 116 to 175 feet at intervals of about 65 minutes. Eruptions last about four minutes, during which time about 12,000 gallons of hot water are discharged.

Union Saves A Failing Plant

By Victor Riesel

The other day Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz told the miniature Hatters' convention that Adlai Stevenson had introduced its chief, Alex Rose, to him as "the wisest man you'll ever know."

Victor Riesel

"And," added the urbane Wirtz, "I've heard two Presidents (of the U.S.) since then say the same thing." This concentration of eclat at the millinery makers' Lilliputian convention, and the parade of some of the nation's most powerful personalities drew this itinerant correspondent from the Washington trenches.

Vice president and Cabinet members bearing messages from U.S. presidents are as rare at small gatherings as the disappearing Nene, the female Hawaiian goose.

They came to pay homage to a powerful liberal vote-maker. But liberal though he is, Mr. Rose, the fascinating record shows, is eclectic and has endorsed Republicans — not all of them of the liberal wing.

PERHAPS the best profile of this strange man, alsmost unknown west of the Hudson, more presidents than Col. House and Jim Farley, is in a rarely told Hatters' Union adventure. It proves that Mr. Rose is a wise man indeed, for he rarely permits his ideology to muddle its way into interfering with more bread and butter for his 25,000 members and better profits for the manufacturers who employ them.

The clearest view of this union venture could have been obtained at an old-fashioned meeting in the Town Hall of Amesbury, Mass. Actually it was a meeting of the stockholders of the Merrimac Hat Co. which, just six years ago, was hit by competition from the felt hat plants of Communist Czechoslovakia and appeared to be going out of business.

However, last month's shareholders' meeeting was as vigorous and profitable as the company is today. What happened in the intervening six years?

In 1959, when Alex Rose and his colleagues in the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers International learned that the Merrimac firm was about to go out of business and that the small New England town would suffer, the union bought the company.

The International raised most of the purchase money. The local Amesbury hatters raised an additional sum. And the townspeople bought stock as well.

BUT THE UNION did not dismiss the management. Instead, company president, Hans Rie was asked to stay on as chief executive. He was told to retain such "associates and assistants in executive posts as he felt could contribute to the welfare of the enterprise." The union - controlled board of directors encouraged the development of new and attractive materials for sales promotion.

Management in this labor-sponsored hat company thus had an even freer hand in using its talents and capacities than it had previously.

All stockholders' interests have been treated with meticulous care. With management's talents now being nursed by the labor people, and the international union's leaders urging its local members to greater efficiency, the firm has prospered.

Stockholders therefore now receive an annual dividend of $2 a share — equal to that paid by A.T. & T. or Boeing. Par value of each share now is $50.

WITH THE UNION behind him, president Rie — a specialist in "superior quality" felt hat production — now is retrieving the market from the Czech salesmen.

Thus, in addition to the dividends per share, there is a special "dividend" per worker. Each employe gets a 2 per cent bonus at year's end. This is the equivalent of a full week's extra pay. So everybody's happy — the management, the stockholders, the employes, the local union, and the townspeople.

And how does a labor-owned corporation bargain with the local union of the international which owns the firm? Exactly as do labor and private management — sometimes loud, sometimes bitter, always tough.

Thus jobs, wages, profits and community prosperity are preserved. There was good news in the Town Hall that night.

It's a wise man who knows what side his members' bread is buttered. Small union. But big moral.

Misunderstood

By David Lawrence

Our Policy Isn't Clear To Europe

What do Europeans think of American foreign policy today? Published criticisms indicate that many of the opinions expressed to visitors abroad reveal a lack of information and understanding of purposes.

David Lawrence

There always is a tendency in other countries to regard the United States government as an inexperienced, if not immature, entity which would be much better off if it accepted the tutorship of its European allies. Much of the misunderstanding is due to faulty communication. Several of the influential European newspapers give more space to the critics of American policy than to its defenders. They have not emphasized to their readers as yet that the American people are almost solidly behind President Johnson in his policy in Viet Nam and in the Dominican Republic, despite the flaw-picking and captious comments from groups here that are inclined to pacifism or blind to the ravages of Communism.

Similar elements by their tactics helped to bring on World War II, and indeed there were many Americans as well as Europeans who were fooled by the appeasement of Hitler at Munich.

TODAY the problem of communication is no better. The foreign offices of Europe know the purpose and details of the policies of the United States in the world, but their peoples do not.

Unfortunately, this subject of communication has not been given enough attention. The U.S. Information Agency is run by diplomatic minds here which insist upon cautious phrasing and an indifference to the anti-Americanism being expressed overseas.

Instead of using the Voice of America to answer forthrightly criticisms leveled against the United States government, the USIA feels that it must operate a kind of news service which includes a full report of all criticisms—as if the European press isn't able to get this directly from its own correspondents in America.

It's just a waste of time and money for a governmental agency to try to become a news service when its real job is to answer the propaganda attacks being made against the American government.

There is need also for the Washington government to take note of European criticism and to answer them directly in the newspapers and on radio and TV in this country.

THE OUTLINES of American policy are clear to those who really study the facts. Protagonists with an ax to grind can, of course, twist any American policy and present an image of a government that is either "trigger happy" or irresponsible. The truth is the United States today is doing more to prevent a nuclear war than has been done by any of the countries participating in the 20 years of postwar debate.

The United States government realizes that the quarrels within Viet Nam are not in themselves important and that an ordinary civil war would be of no concern to the American people.

What the critics in Europe are refusing to recognize is that the Communists have been stirring up the trouble in Viet Nam, as well as in the Dominican Republic and other countries, and that, if the United States stands idly by, there certainly will be a major war which could result only in the use of nuclear weapons.

Preventive measures are more important now than they have ever been in the history of the world. The American people are strongly behind President Johnson in his policies in both Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, despite the sniping comments and mischievous efforts to make it appear that these policies have been undertaken without due deliberation here or consideration of the consequences.

THE UNITED STATES has extended the hand of peace only to be scorned. It has made extensive sacrifices in South Viet Nam. It has not tried to gain any territory or interfere with the independence of any country.

As for the Dominican Republic, the critics seem ready to argue that the operations of the Organization of American States are not as important as the services of the United Nations, but they forget that the U.N. has failed to do a peacekeeping job in Southeast Asia because of the strong Communist influence within that international organization itself.

The sad truth is that the United States stands alone in coming to the aid of small nations because the U.N. has not done its duty.

To criticize the United States for extending a helping hand to countries in distress reveals an indifference to reality because, if America did not make the sacrifices it is making today, all of Southeast Asia as well as all of North Africa and the Middle East would soon be in the hands of the Communist bloc.

GOP Peace Shows Cracks

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Republicans still don't sound unanimous or even happy although, split wide open in the 1964 presidential race, they suffered one of their worst defeats in history.

Since then they have been backing President Johnson's foreign policy, much to his satisfaction, while remaining rather peaceful themselves and among themselves.

It was never a peace that could last long, in a party divided into as many sharp factions as the Republicans, but even the peace such as it was is beginning to show cracks.

Four paragraphs, from four different stories in the news Monday, tell the story:

1. Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, one of the top Republicans in the House, warned Johnson "we may be dangerously close to ending any Republican support of our present Viet Nam policy."

Laird is chairman of the GOP Conference Committee.

2. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said his group will continue to "uphold the hands of the President" in Viet Nam, adding: "What else could you do in a situation of this kind?"

3. Former Sen. Barry Goldwater, whom Johnson defeated in the presidential race, in a radio-television interview said he feels Johnson should stop trying to be a general and let the military run the show in Viet Nam.

4. Republican organization leaders took a dim view of the projected formation of a new conservative organization to be headed by Goldwater as honorary chairman.

While Johnson has been heckled for his foreign policy, particularly in the academic and artistic world, he has been able to operate with reasonable confidence because of the backing he got in Congress.

True, he has had some individual critics there, but on the whole Republicans lined up with the bulk of Democrats in supporting him.

But if Johnson and his policies begin to come under attack by just House Republicans, for whom Laird seemed to be speaking, his road will take a sour turn, reminiscent of what happened to President Harry S. Truman in the Korean war.

Republicans were constantly on his back then, calling it "Truman's war."

Johnson has had an extremely agreeable working relationship with Dirksen, who seems determined that the President must continue to get Republican support in the Senate at least.

Goldwater's view, that Johnson should let the military run the show in Viet Nam, in effect would let the military run American foreign policy in Asia, which is about as extreme a position as Goldwater could take.

But at least the Arizonan is consistent. In the 1964 campaign, after saying Johnson should make it clear the United States will not pull out of Viet Nam, Goldwater said:

"Now the next decision becomes based on military decisions. I don't think that's up to a presidential candidate or even the President. I would turn to my Joint Chiefs of Staff and say: 'Fellows, we made the decision to win; now it's your problem.' "

On A Collision Course

A collision is shaping up between opponents of reapportionment and the U.S. Supreme Court.

One of the curiosities of the American system of government is the silence of the courts until after the fact. They cannot speak until an actual case has been brought before them.

There is no way for courts to let it be known, for example, that a policy or procedure is on a collision course with a legal ruling. Judges must wait until the collision has occurred to point out what could have been pointed out before, in other circumstances.

When the Supreme Court ruled a year ago that both houses of legislatures must be based on population—one man, one vote—it was foreseen that opponents of reapportionment would call state referendums.

Chief Justice Warren thereupon pointed out that legislative districts of unequal size would not be constitutional even if established by referendum. "A citizen's constitutional rights can hardly be infringed simply because a majority of the people choose to do so," he declared.

The significance of this was ignored by all politicians who wanted to preserve systems of unequal representation.

They have been talking blandly ever since about state referendums, heedless of the judicial warning that a constitutional right cannot be wiped out by a popular vote.

Because the court's 1964 ruling was based on the 14th amendment, nothing short of repeal of the amendment could legalize what the ruling said would be illegal while the 14th amendment remained in the Constitution.

This has bearing on the Senate Judiciary Committee's forthcoming decision on proposals to undo the Supreme Court's reapportionment rulings by various methods, including referendums.

The Supreme Court already has ruled that referendums cannot wipe out a constitutional right of any individual citizen, or group of citizens.

The referendums, themselves, would be challenged.

Right And Wrong

Unless closing of some of the organizations involved should result—and this is extremely unlikely in view of the record—the primary thought that strikes home from the weekend crackdown in Hancock County is that there have been an awful lot of slot machines in operation.

Which brings up another point — regardless of how much good they may do with the revenue realized from the "slots," the clubs or other organizations which sanction their use continue to operate on a false premise.

Promoting good government with one hand and pulling the slots with the other is difficult to accept when viewed in the proper light of right and wrong.

The Showdown In Asia

South Viet Nam's latest government shakeup puts militarists in complete control, and they probably will stay there indefinitely.

The happy illusion that the South Vietnamese are fighting to preserve their political freedom can be abandoned. They cannot sustain a civil government.

The war in Viet Nam, with an all-out offensive by the Viet Cong and its North Viet Nam backers due this month, has been simmered down to the ultimate question:

Did the United States pick a battleground on which it has a chance to win a showdown with Asiatic Communists?

North Viet Nam now is calling for "volunteers" to fight in South Viet Nam.

The much-discussed bombing of North Viet Nam targets and supply routes to South Viet Nam has had no apparent effect.

The United States, having "escalated" the war to more than 50,000 of its own troops, is in a precarious position. Some estimates run as high as a million Americans to rout the Viet Cong and its backers in Southeast Asia. All etimate agree the job cannot be done without continued "escalation."

It is like the adage that he who shoots at a king must kill him.

He who commits himself to defeat Communists must defeat them or lose status.

Can the United States beat Communists in Southeast Asia?

As far as South Viet Nam is concerned, that now is the only question. Its last hope of a patched-up civil government has been shattered. From now on, the country is under military rule — and generals' jealousies and plottings are just as mischievous and irresponsible as civilians' conspiracies.

LBJ Afloat

The presidential yacht John F. Kennedy called "Honey Fitz" in honor of his grandfather and Dwight D. Eisenhower called "Barbara Anne" for his granddaughter is being put back into commission.

President Johnson had said he had no use for a yacht, but it was a good bet he would change his mind. How could a dry-land Texan shut out the temptation to cruise on deep water, after he had conquered both land and air?

No name has been picked for the yacht when it flies the house flag of the Johnsons. Wags will have suggestions, but they will be wasted.

One possible name stands out above all the rest—LBJ.

We have an LBJ ranch.

We have LBJ in Washington, a serial story that reaches a thumping climax in each installment.

We have LBJ on horseback, LBJ at the barbecue pit, LBJ afoot, LBJ aloft and for a few days last winter we had LBJ in bed.

But yachting is a dimension no one had thought of.

LBJ afloat. That has to be it.

We can hear LBJ now if the water gets choppy: "Come, let us reason together."

Commencement

By Truman Twill

No one can be dead certain about a thing like this, but wasn't commencement more fun when it was the beginning of something?

I'm raising the question, not answering it.

People used to tuck diplomas under their arms and go forth into the world and slay dragons.

Now they turn in their certificate of study on additional study. No one commences anything. Graduates keep on going to school.

Even dropouts find out the hard way that they aren't going to be let alone to enjoy static ignorance. They are going to be salvaged with more of the same that didn't work before, it says here in the blueprint for the Great Society.

Brighties, of course, go to graduate schools, then to post-graduate schools, then into research and ultimately into teaching. This is expected of them. They must not waste their talents.

Even eager beavers ready to gnaw down the world are waved off until they have sharpened their teeth with more academic drilling.

Newly graduate doctors itching to prescribe miracle drugs and get busy with their new tools are shunted into hospitals for more years of training.

The only place where a young man is on his own is in the military forces of the United States, which puts them in charge of saving freedom in remote places with no seasoning—but with a stern admonition to keep moving in case the enemy sets up an ambush.

All this happens, it is explained, because this is the age of science and everybody ever knew before.

There's another explanation.

It's because people already on the job are conspiring to freeze out the competition as long as they can. They keep raising the educational ante to discourage the ribbon clerks, as they say in poker games.

In addition to discouragement from this source, there's uncertainty on the part of the young people, themselves. They aren't sure what they want to do or how to start.

They fidget and stall. They go to the water cooler and the pencil sharpener. They take one more year of school, one more batch of credits, one more degree, one more special project, to postpone the moment of truth when they must announce, "I'm ready, world" and the world doesn't give a whoop.

But the world never did give a whoop. This didn't use to bother people who were ready to commence their careers. They kicked the world, gouged it, cajoled and flattered it until it noticed them.

They didn't dodge the showdown by staying in the groves of Academe. And the people already making a living didn't keep raising the ante, either.

Would you believe it? American civilization as we know it was built by ignoramuses whose only credentials were high school diplomas? They're the same ones who now require all job applicants to have advanced training.

No single country in the world is called home by so many people as China. More than one-fifth of all the people in the world live in this country. It is an old civilization with a continuous written history of about 4,000 years. The name "China" was given by foreigners who first heard of the country when it was under the leadership of a dynasty named "Ch'in."

The most famous American to die "on the field of honor" was Alexander Hamilton, the first U.S. secretary of the treasury. He was killed in a pistol duel with the vice president of the U.S., Aaron Burr, in 1804. Hamilton was mortally wounded on precisely the same spot where three years earlier his son also had been killed in a duel.

The largest underground factory ever built was the Hittelwerk Factory, near Nordhausen in the Kohnstein Hills, in Germany, during World War II. Built with concentration camp labor, it had a floor area of 1,270,000 square feet and produced 900 V-2 rockets per month.

Laird is chairman of the GOP Conference Committee.

2. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said his group will continue to "uphold the hands of the President" in Viet Nam, adding: "What else could you do in a situation of this kind?"

3. Former Sen. Barry Goldwater, whom Johnson defeated in the presidential race, in a radio-television interview said he feels Johnson should stop trying to be a general and let the military run the show in Viet Nam.

4. Republican organization leaders took a dim view of the projected formation of a new conservative organization to be headed by Goldwater as honorary chairman.

While Johnson has been heckled for his foreign policy, particularly in the academic and artistic world, he has been able to operate with reasonable confidence because of the backing he got in Congress.

True, he has had some individual critics there, but on the whole Republicans lined up with the bulk of Democrats in supporting him.

But if Johnson and his policies begin to come under attack by just House Republicans, for whom Laird seemed to be speaking, his road will take a sour turn, reminiscent of what happened to President Harry S. Truman in the Korean war.

Republicans were constantly on his back then, calling it "Truman's war."

Johnson has had an extremely agreeable working relationship with Dirksen, who seems determined that the President must continue to get Republican support in the Senate at least.

Goldwater's view, that Johnson should let the military run the show in Viet Nam, in effect would let the military run American foreign policy in Asia, which is about as extreme a position as Goldwater could take.

But at least the Arizonan is consistent. In the 1964 campaign, after saying Johnson should make it clear the United States will not pull out of Viet Nam, Goldwater said:

"Now the next decision becomes based on military decisions. I don't think that's up to a presidential candidate or even the President. I would turn to my Joint Chiefs of Staff and say: 'Fellows, we made the decision to win; now it's your problem.'"

Senate Slates Quick Action On Excise Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators prepared today for quick action on a $4.7-billion excise tax cut bill which would remove nearly all of the excise levies left over from wartime and the depression years.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager for the tax measure, told a reporter he was hopeful the Senate could pass it by nightfall.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., the assistant Republican leader, said he was confident Republicans would cooperate.

Long noted that the Senate Finance Committee had inserted into the bill a powerful incentive for speed. Under this amendment, the first-stage excise repealers would take effect on the day after President Johnson signs the bill; the House voted for a July 1 effective date.

The Louisiana senator said so far as he knew the administration was not going to renew in the floor debate its request that the Senate restore half of the auto tax, that is, retain a 5 per cent excise.

It made this plea to the Finance Committee but won only seven of the nine needed votes.

The House voted for repeal of the entire 10 per cent tax in a series of steps ending in 1969.

The Senate committee decided to condition the final four percentage points of repeal, in 1968 and 1969, on agreement by the manufacturers to install a list of 17 safety devices on their cars.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., author of this amendment, said he believed the Senate would retain it in the bill although he said the auto companies apparently were against it.

The Finance Committee also decided, at the request of Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., to retain a 1 per cent auto tax and earmark the $190-million yield for disposal of auto junkyards.

House Given Blessing To Chase Off 'Ghosts'

BLACKWELL, England (AP) —Frank Slater asked the local borough council to find him and his family a new house. He claimed the present one is haunted.

R. L. Charlesworth, the council's housing officer, ruled: "Ghosts or no ghosts the Slaters can be rehoused only if their property is unfit for habitation, which it is not."

Slater's wife, Jessie, said, "We have seen strange apparitions in the house. Statuettes of saints have been broken and cups, saucers and other crockery have been smashed."

The Slaters got the Assistant Bishop of Derby (Anglican) to bless the cottage. "It is now a matter of seeing whether the blessing has been a success," said Assistant Bishop Thomas Parfit.

Kaltenborn

written down before they go on the air."

Kaltenborn pioneered on-the-air news analyses in 1922.

In January 1949, a few months after his surprise election victory over Thomas E. Dewey, former President Harry S. Truman told a public dinner in Washington of a Kaltenborn broadcast he had heard on election night.

Mimicking Kaltenborn, Truman quoted the news commentator: "The President is one million popular votes ahead, but when the country vote comes in Mr. Truman will be defeated by an overwhelming vote."

In an interview last year, Kaltenborn, said, "Truman has always been friendly to me ever since he and I exchanged quips about his imitation of me."

Kaltenborn, who quit school at 14 to become a lumberjack, ranked his coverage of Munich crisis in 1938 as his greatest professional achievement. It won him the personal compliments of former President Herbert Hoover.

A year and a half later, he was hired away from the Columbia Broadcasting System by the National Broadcasting Co.

Another president, Lyndon B. Johnson, telephoned to thank him for expressing great confidence in the chief executive after the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Kaltenborn, the son of Rudolph Von Kaltenborn, a Wisconsin merchant, entered broadcasting in 1922 while a member of the staff of the Brooklyn Eagle. He graduated cum laude from Harvard College.

He joined CBS in 1930 as news editor, and in 1932 covered the presidential campaigns and the national elections. He handled these same assignments every four years through 1956.

Kaltenborn arrived in New York last Friday from his Palm Beach, Fla., winter home to visit his son, Rolf. He became ill at Rolf's home Sunday night and died in Roosevelt hospital at 5 p.m. Monday.

Kaltenborn also is survived by his widow, Olga; a daughter, Mrs. Attmore Robinson, and seven grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held at noon Friday at All Souls Unitarian church in Manhattan.

Treasury Aide To Talk At Close Of Weirton Drive

Deputy Undersecretary of the Treasury Paul A. Volcker will address a meeting of Weirton Steel Co. employes Wednesday noon at the Weirton Community Center to officially conclude the current savings bond campaign in the plants and offices of the company.

Following his address, Volcker will present awards to those divisions which either have increased their bond purchasers 50 per cent or have raised their total participation to 50 per cent as a result of the campaign.

Volcker, who is a graduate of Princeton and has a Master's degree from Harvard, was associated with the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York before joining the Treasury in 1962 as director of the Office of Financial Analysis. He also has studied at the London School of Economics and was appointed to his present Treasury position in 1963.

He recently received an exceptional service award citation from former Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillion.

A native May, N. J., Volcker resides in Chevy Chase, Md., with his wife and two children.

Started By Landslide

MAVROVO, Yugoslavia (AP) —There's a wandering island in the lake which supplies a hydroelectric power station here in Macedonia.

It was started by a landslide which fell into the lake, complete with grass and a few willow trees. Currents gradually moved it 12 kilometers across the lake to the shores of this village.

Farmers roped it to beech trees on the shore to keep it where it is.

Local Jaycees Outline Plans For Year Ahead

A proposed program for the coming year was outlined during the annual joint meeting of the new and retiring Board of Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the home of Vincent Laneve of Pickering Ave., the new president.

Four retiring officers and 11 new officers attended, along with two guests.

A list of 45 committees for the coming year, as proposed by Laneve, was approved.

New projects include a coordinating committee for playground equipment at the Elkton School for Retarded Children, a physical fitness program, "Outstanding Young Educator," park beautification and air park.

Ben Weber, chairman of the post-prom committee, read a letter of thanks from the secretary of the Junior Class of East Liverpool High School.

John Parsons displayed a trophy awarded the Jaycee clown unit at the Glenmoor firemen's parade. The new clown car will be taken to Buffalo, N. Y., this weekend for the national Jaycee convention. Paul Grafton was named captain of the clowns for the coming year.

Herman Hoppel reported on the Junior Olympics program for area youths to be held July 10. The board voted to send the local winnners to Canton July 31 for the state competition, if they wish to enter.

The board agreed to attempt to hold membership meetings throughout the summer months. The first will be June 28, tentatively at Thompson Park. Paul Zehnder was named program chairman for meetings the coming year.

Lynda Bird's Learning Archaeology Is Work

GRASSHOPPER, Ariz. (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson is learning that archaeology is part study but a whole lot more work.

The President's daughter joined 20 other students of the University of Arizona's summer field school Monday in a full day's digging at Grasshopper on the Fort Apache Indian reservation.

It was fun swinging the picks and using the shovels, they agreed, but the bright sun was plenty warm — even though the altitude here is 6,000 feet.

Directed by Dr. Raymond Thompson, professor of archaeology, the students wielded the hand tools vigorously as they probed the dirt mound that covers an Indian culture dating back to 1350 A.D.

Each shovelful is carefully sifted so that no artifacts or other remains go undetected.

Each artifact, whether pottery, jewelry or skeletons, will be studied and catalogued to piece together a picture of the ancient inhabitants and their way of life.

While thestudents toiled, the modern White Mountain Apaches prepared for Thursday's ceremonial in which the Great White Chief's 21-year-old daughter will be inducted as an honorary member of the Apache tribe.

House Gets New Chance On Housing-Urban Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House gets another chance today to do what it twice has refused in the past — approve creation of a Cabinet-level department of housing and urban development.

With Democrats holding their biggest majority in years, party leaders were confident President Johnson's request for establishment of the new agency would be granted, although they conceded the outcome might be close.

In his annual message to Congress last January, Johnson called for creation of the department to put urban problems and their handling by the federal government in the "front rank of government." He repeated the request in two later messages.

The new department would administer existing programs relating to housing and urban development and would be responsible for development of policies to foster the orderly growth of the nation's urban areas.

It would be headed by a secretary who would be at the end of the line of Cabinet officers eligible to succeed to the presidency in the event of the death or disability of the president, the vice president and other Cabinet members. One of four assistant secretaries would handle problems connected with private home mortgages.

Johnson has given no clue as to whom he has in mind to head the department if Congress approves it.

It was President John F. Kennedy's announcement of intention to appoint a Negro, Robert C. Weaver, to head the proposed department that led to rejection of the proposal in 1962. Weaver is head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency which would be swallowed up by the new department.

Senate Slates Quick Action On Excise Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators prepared today for quick action on a $4.7-billion excise tax cut bill which would remove nearly all of the excise levies left over from wartime and the depression years.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager for the tax measure, told a reporter he was hopeful the Senate could pass it by nightfall.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., the assistant Republican leader, said he was confident Republicans would cooperate.

Long noted that the Senate Finance Committee had inserted into the bill a powerful incentive for speed. Under this amendment, the first-stage excise repealers would take effect on the day after President Johnson signs the bill; the House voted for a July 1 effective date.

The Louisiana senator said so far as he knew the administration was not going to renew in the floor debate its request that the Senate restore half of the auto tax, that is, retain a 5 per cent excise.

It made this plea to the Finance Committee but won only seven of the nine needed votes.

The House voted for repeal of the entire 10 per cent tax in a series of steps ending in 1969.

The Senate committee decided to condition the final four percentage points of repeal, in 1968 and 1969, on agreement by the manufacturers to install a list of 17 safety devices on their cars.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., author of this amendment, said he believed the Senate would retain it in the bill although he said the auto companies apparently were against it.

The Finance Committee also decided, at the request of Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., to retain a 1 per cent auto tax and earmark the $190-million yield for disposal of auto junkyards.

House Given Blessing To Chase Off 'Ghosts'

BLACKWELL, England (AP) —Frank Slater asked the local borough council to find him and his family a new house. He claimed the present one is haunted.

R. L. Charlesworth, the council's housing officer, ruled: "Ghosts or no ghosts the Slaters can be rehoused only if their property is unfit for habitation, which it is not."

Slater's wife, Jessie, said, "We have seen strange apparitions in the house. Statuettes of saints have been broken and cups, saucers and other crockery have been smashed."

The Slaters got the Assistant Bishop of Derby (Anglican) to bless the cottage. "It is now a matter of seeing whether the blessing has been a success," said Assistant Bishop Thomas Parfit.

written down before they go on the air."

Kaltenborn pioneered on-the-air news analyses in 1922.

In January 1949, a few months after his surprise election victory over Thomas E. Dewey, former President Harry S. Truman told a public dinner in Washington of a Kaltenborn broadcast he had heard on election night.

Mimicking Kaltenborn, Truman quoted the news commentator: "The President is one million popular votes ahead, but when the country vote comes in Mr. Truman will be defeated by an overwhelming vote."

In an interview last year, Kaltenborn, said, "Truman has always been friendly to me ever since he and I exchanged quips about his imitation of me."

Kaltenborn, who quit school at 14 to become a lumberjack, ranked his coverage of Munich crisis in 1938 as his greatest professional achievement. It won him the personal compliments of former President Herbert Hoover.

A year and a half later, he was hired away from the Columbia Broadcasting System by the National Broadcasting Co.

Another president, Lyndon B. Johnson, telephoned to thank him for expressing great confidence in the chief executive after the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Kaltenborn, the son of Rudolph Von Kaltenborn, a Wisconsin merchant, entered broadcasting in 1922 while a member of the staff of the Brooklyn Eagle. He graduated cum laude from Harvard College.

He joined CBS in 1930 as news editor, and in 1932 covered the presidential campaigns and the national elections. He handled these same assignments every four years through 1956.

Kaltenborn arrived in New York last Friday from his Palm Beach, Fla., winter home to visit his son, Rolf. He became ill at Rolf's home Sunday night and died in Roosevelt hospital at 5 p.m. Monday.

Kaltenborn also is survived by his widow, Olga; a daughter, Mrs. Attmore Robinson, and seven grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held at noon Friday at All Souls Unitarian church in Manhattan.

Deputy Undersecretary of the Treasury Paul A. Volcker will address a meeting of Weirton Steel Co. employes Wednesday noon at the Weirton Community Center to officially conclude the current savings bond campaign in the plants and offices of the company.

Following his address, Volcker will present awards to those divisions which either have increased their bond purchasers 50 per cent or have raised their total participation to 50 per cent as a result of the campaign.

Volcker, who is a graduate of Princeton and has a Master's degree from Harvard, was associated with the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York before joining the Treasury in 1962 as director of the Office of Financial Analysis. He also has studied at the London School of Economics and was appointed to his present Treasury position in 1963.

He recently received an exceptional service award citation from former Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillion.

A native May, N. J., Volcker resides in Chevy Chase, Md., with his wife and two children.

MAVROVO, Yugoslavia (AP) —There's a wandering island in the lake which supplies a hydroelectric power station here in Macedonia.

Local Jaycees Outline Plans For Year Ahead

A proposed program for the coming year was outlined during the annual joint meeting of the new and retiring Board of Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the home of Vincent Laneve of Pickering Ave., the new president.

Four retiring officers and 11 new officers attended, along with two guests.

A list of 45 committees for the coming year, as proposed by Laneve, was approved.

New projects include a coordinating committee for playground equipment at the Elkton School for Retarded Children, a physical fitness program, "Outstanding Young Educator," park beautification and air park.

Ben Weber, chairman of the post-prom committee, read a letter of thanks from the secretary of the Junior Class of East Liverpool High School.

John Parsons displayed a trophy awarded the Jaycee clown unit at the Glenmoor firemen's parade. The new clown car will be taken to Buffalo, N. Y., this weekend for the national Jaycee convention. Paul Grafton was named captain of the clowns for the coming year.

Herman Hoppel reported on the Junior Olympics program for area youths to be held July 10. The board voted to send the local winnners to Canton July 31 for the state competition, if they wish to enter.

The board agreed to attempt to hold membership meetings throughout the summer months. The first will be June 28, tentatively at Thompson Park. Paul Zehnder was named program chairman for meetings the coming year.

Lynda Bird's Learning Archaeology Is Work

GRASSHOPPER, Ariz. (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson is learning that archaeology is part study but a whole lot more work.

The President's daughter joined 20 other students of the University of Arizona's summer field school Monday in a full day's digging at Grasshopper on the Fort Apache Indian reservation.

It was fun swinging the picks and using the shovels, they agreed, but the bright sun was plenty warm — even though the altitude here is 6,000 feet.

Directed by Dr. Raymond Thompson, professor of archaeology, the students wielded the hand tools vigorously as they probed the dirt mound that covers an Indian culture dating back to 1350 A.D.

Each shovelful is carefully sifted so that no artifacts or other remains go undetected.

Each artifact, whether pottery, jewelry or skeletons, will be studied and catalogued to piece together a picture of the ancient inhabitants and their way of life.

While thestudents toiled, the modern White Mountain Apaches prepared for Thursday's ceremonial in which the Great White Chief's 21-year-old daughter will be inducted as an honorary member of the Apache tribe.

House Gets New Chance On Housing-Urban Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House gets another chance today to do what it twice has refused in the past — approve creation of a Cabinet-level department of housing and urban development.

With Democrats holding their biggest majority in years, party leaders were confident President Johnson's request for establishment of the new agency would be granted, although they conceded the outcome might be close.

In his annual message to Congress last January, Johnson called for creation of the department to put urban problems and their handling by the federal government in the "front rank of government." He repeated the request in two later messages.

The new department would administer existing programs relating to housing and urban development and would be responsible for development of policies to foster the orderly growth of the nation's urban areas.

It would be headed by a secretary who would be at the end of the line of Cabinet officers eligible to succeed to the presidency in the event of the death or disability of the president, the vice president and other Cabinet members. One of four assistant secretaries would handle problems connected with private home mortgages.

Johnson has given no clue as to whom he has in mind to head the department if Congress approves it.

It was President John F. Kennedy's announcement of intention to appoint a Negro, Robert C. Weaver, to head the proposed department that led to rejection of the proposal in 1962. Weaver is head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency which would be swallowed up by the new department.

Slated On Wednesday's Calendar

Ohio Senate Votes Due On Housing, Universities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Proposals to ban racial discrimination in housing and to establish three new state universities have been readied for floor votes in the Ohio Senate.

The Senate Rules Committee, which has had the controversial housing bill bottled up for more than two months, voted Monday night to place the measure on Wednesday's calendar.

A new state university would be created in Dayton, and municipal universities at Toledo and Akron would be transferred to the state under the other bills, also on the Wednesday slate. The committee took no action on other measures which would create state universities at Lima and Mansfield.

Senate leaders hinted there may be a floor fight over amendments to the "'fair housing" bill, which is considerably weaker than one sought by Democrats in the evenly divided upper chamber.

The active Rules Committee session highlighted the beginning of the legislature's 22nd work week. Both chambers held floor sessions generally routine in nature except for an outburst in the Senate on a resolution seeking to acquire an Atomic Energy Commission laboratory for Ohio.

Sen. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-Mahoning, touched off the wrangle when he sought to tie in with the resolution a call for the Republican state administration to show "the same aggressiveness" for construction of a Lake Erie-Ohio River canal.

Gilmartin exploded when Lt. John W. Brown, R-Medina, who presides over the Senate, admonished the Youngstown Democrat to confine his remarks "to the resolution that is before us."

The Senate amended the resolution to expand Ohio's AEC lab campaign to include possible sites other than the Ravenna Arsenal, the one backed by Gov. James A. Rhodes and the Ohio Atomic Advisory Board.

In other business, the Senate completed legislative action on increased bonding authority for 17 of the state's largest counties. The measure would permit counties to set a voter-appprove bonded debt limit of 2.5 per cent, an increase of one per cent, if they have a tax duplicate of more than $300 million.

Passed and sent to the House was a measure by Sen. Danny D. Johnson, D - Tuscarawas, which would permit the earmarking of voter-approved funds for regional planning agencies.

Bills passed by the House would:

Exempt high school graduates under 18 from state work curfews for minors.

Allow common pleas judges to set salaries of court reporters and remove a $1,000-a-year salary maximum on such employes.

Change the title of the director of the Board of Regents to chancellor and give that office membership on the Ohio Educational Television Commmission.

Woman Bruised In Lisbon Crash

LISBON — A West Virginia truck driver posted a $15 appearance bond Monday in Mayor Dean Stockman's court after he was cited as a result of an accident at 2:45 p. m. on S. Market St. at Washington St.

Roy F. Thompson, 32, of New Martinsville was driving east on W. Washington St. and made a left turn onto S. Market St. with a tractor and trailer loaded with gas line pipe when he cut the corner too close and struck a 1956 sedan driven by Mrs. Maxine B. Beaver, 333, of Black's Rd., which was headed south and had stopped for the signal.

Police said the Beaver car was demolished and Mrs. Beaver had contusions of left arm. Her children in the back seat were not injured. Thompson complained of bruises.

Thompason faces a hearing tonight before Stockman on a charge of driving left of center. He was cited by Police Chief Leon Zahrndt.

Search Ends; Flood Deaths Placed At 26

SANDERSON, Tex. (AP)—A search for 10 persons missing after Friday's flood ended Monday night. The missing were presumed dead, making the toll 26.

"There's no place left to search," said Terrell County Sheriff Bill Cooksey.

"More bodies are going to be found by chance from time to time, and others won't ever be found," he said.

Sixteen bodies have been recovered since a 15-foot wall of water swept down Sanderson Canyon early Friday.

Seven men on foot followed the canyon through rough country 20 miles south as far as the Rio Grande. An Army helicopter flew the same course and continued 30 miles down the Rio Grande.

Searchers found about a dozen cars, some as far as three miles downstream from the town.

Walter Warrington and Del Insko were the only drivers who won both ends of daily doubles during the recent spring harness race meeting at Yonkers, N.Y., Raceway.

Ohio Senate Votes Due On Housing, Universities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Proposals to ban racial discrimination in housing and to establish three new state universities have been readied for floor votes in the Ohio Senate.

The Senate Rules Committee, which has had the controversial housing bill bottled up for more than two months, voted Monday night to place the measure on Wednesday's calendar.

A new state university would be created in Dayton, and municipal universities at Toledo and Akron would be transferred to the state under the other bills, also on the Wednesday slate. The committee took no action on other measures which would create state universities at Lima and Mansfield.

Senate leaders hinted there may be a floor fight over amendments to the "'fair housing" bill, which is considerably weaker than one sought by Democrats in the evenly divided upper chamber.

The active Rules Committee session highlighted the beginning of the legislature's 22nd work week. Both chambers held floor sessions generally routine in nature except for an outburst in the Senate on a resolution seeking to acquire an Atomic Energy Commission laboratory for Ohio.

Sen. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-Mahoning, touched off the wrangle when he sought to tie in with the resolution a call for the Republican state administration to show "the same aggressiveness" for construction of a Lake Erie-Ohio River canal.

Gilmartin exploded when Lt. John W. Brown, R-Medina, who presides over the Senate, admonished the Youngstown Democrat to confine his remarks "to the resolution that is before us."

The Senate amended the resolution to expand Ohio's AEC lab campaign to include possible sites other than the Ravenna Arsenal, the one backed by Gov. James A. Rhodes and the Ohio Atomic Advisory Board.

In other business, the Senate completed legislative action on increased bonding authority for 17 of the state's largest counties. The measure would permit counties to set a voter-appprove bonded debt limit of 2.5 per cent, an increase of one per cent, if they have a tax duplicate of more than $300 million.

Passed and sent to the House was a measure by Sen. Danny D. Johnson, D - Tuscarawas, which would permit the earmarking of voter-approved funds for regional planning agencies.

Bills passed by the House would:

Exempt high school graduates under 18 from state work curfews for minors.

Allow common pleas judges to set salaries of court reporters and remove a $1,000-a-year salary maximum on such employes.

Change the title of the director of the Board of Regents to chancellor and give that office membership on the Ohio Educational Television Commmission.

Woman Bruised In Lisbon Crash

LISBON — A West Virginia truck driver posted a $15 appearance bond Monday in Mayor Dean Stockman's court after he was cited as a result of an accident at 2:45 p. m. on S. Market St. at Washington St.

Roy F. Thompson, 32, of New Martinsville was driving east on W. Washington St. and made a left turn onto S. Market St. with a tractor and trailer loaded with gas line pipe when he cut the corner too close and struck a 1956 sedan driven by Mrs. Maxine B. Beaver, 333, of Black's Rd., which was headed south and had stopped for the signal.

Police said the Beaver car was demolished and Mrs. Beaver had contusions of left arm. Her children in the back seat were not injured. Thompson complained of bruises.

Thompason faces a hearing tonight before Stockman on a charge of driving left of center. He was cited by Police Chief Leon Zahrndt.

Search Ends; Flood Deaths Placed At 26

SANDERSON, Tex. (AP)—A search for 10 persons missing after Friday's flood ended Monday night. The missing were presumed dead, making the toll 26.

"There's no place left to search," said Terrell County Sheriff Bill Cooksey.

"More bodies are going to be found by chance from time to time, and others won't ever be found," he said.

Sixteen bodies have been recovered since a 15-foot wall of water swept down Sanderson Canyon early Friday.

Seven men on foot followed the canyon through rough country 20 miles south as far as the Rio Grande. An Army helicopter flew the same course and continued 30 miles down the Rio Grande.

Searchers found about a dozen cars, some as far as three miles downstream from the town.

Liquor Unit Says Ex-Con Runs Tavern

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has turned down a permit renewal request from a Lisbon area man on grounds he is not the true owner - operator of the permit site in Leetonia and the man who controls the business is a convicted safecracker, gambler and counterfeiter.

The department rejected the permit application for the American Restaurant of 255 E. Main St., Leetonia, filed by Victor Hanna of Lisbon R. D. 4.

Officials said Hanna is not the true owner, who is actually Arthur Keresty, also known as Arthur Kerestes and Steve Kestez.

Keresty, officials said, admits nine convictions — safecracking in 1933, five years probation at New Castle, Pa.; illegal possession and transportation of liquor in 1937, three months jail at New Castle; passing counterfeit notes in 1938 one year at Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary; illegal transportation of liquor in 1941, 18 months at Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary.

Violation of Selective Service Act in 1944, five years probation; counterfeit sugar stamps in 1946, $2,000 fine, two years in jail at Milan, Mich.; operating gambling house in 1952, $350 fine and probation at Butler, Pa.; disturbing peace and intoxication, $50 and costs, and resisting arrest, $200 and costs, both in 1964 at Leetonia.

The department reported Hanna made false statements on his renewal application in declaring he operated the restaurant and that no person directly or indirectly interested in the business had ever been convicted of a felony.

Authorities said an investigation revealed Hanna does not work on the premises and has never worked on them; has no knowledge of the business or its finances, and receives no money from the business.

Keresty, the report said, owns the property, retains all profits from the business, does all hiring and firing, and paid the 1964 renewal fee on the liquor permit.

Rate Information Available For Wheat Crop In Beaver

The price support loan and purchase rate for the 1965 wheat crop in Beaver County will be $1.31 per bushel, Glenn Campbell, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced.

Information on price support rates for wheat stored in terminals, as well as schedules of premiums and discounts, are available at the ASCS county office, he said.

As in the past, he explained, terminal price support rates are derived by adding rail freight and handling charges necessary to get the wheat from the producing area to the terminal markets. The county loan rates are then computed on the basis of the tributary terminal market loan rate, minus rail freight rates.

Liquor Unit Says Ex-Con Runs Tavern

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has turned down a permit renewal request from a Lisbon area man on grounds he is not the true owner - operator of the permit site in Leetonia and the man who controls the business is a convicted safecracker, gambler and counterfeiter.

The department rejected the permit application for the American Restaurant of 255 E. Main St., Leetonia, filed by Victor Hanna of Lisbon R. D. 4.

Officials said Hanna is not the true owner, who is actually Arthur Keresty, also known as Arthur Kerestes and Steve Kestez.

Keresty, officials said, admits nine convictions — safecracking in 1933, five years probation at New Castle, Pa.; illegal possession and transportation of liquor in 1937, three months jail at New Castle; passing counterfeit notes in 1938 one year at Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary; illegal transportation of liquor in 1941, 18 months at Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary.

Violation of Selective Service Act in 1944, five years probation; counterfeit sugar stamps in 1946, $2,000 fine, two years in jail at Milan, Mich.; operating gambling house in 1952, $350 fine and probation at Butler, Pa.; disturbing peace and intoxication, $50 and costs, and resisting arrest, $200 and costs, both in 1964 at Leetonia.

The department reported Hanna made false statements on his renewal application in declaring he operated the restaurant and that no person directly or indirectly interested in the business had ever been convicted of a felony.

Authorities said an investigation revealed Hanna does not work on the premises and has never worked on them; has no knowledge of the business or its finances, and receives no money from the business.

Keresty, the report said, owns the property, retains all profits from the business, does all hiring and firing, and paid the 1964 renewal fee on the liquor permit.

Rate Information Available For Wheat Crop In Beaver

The price support loan and purchase rate for the 1965 wheat crop in Beaver County will be $1.31 per bushel, Glenn Campbell, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced.

Information on price support rates for wheat stored in terminals, as well as schedules of premiums and discounts, are available at the ASCS county office, he said.

As in the past, he explained, terminal price support rates are derived by adding rail freight and handling charges necessary to get the wheat from the producing area to the terminal markets. The county loan rates are then computed on the basis of the tributary terminal market loan rate, minus rail freight rates.

County and terminal loan rates are subject to further adjustment for premium and discounts in determining individual producer loans, depending on the grade and quality of the producer's wheat collateral.

The chairman explained that this support will be available to all growers who stay within their farm's 1965 wheat allotments and carry out other provisions of the 1965 wheat program.

By signing up and participating in the program, they qualify for price support loans and purchases and for marketing certificates; diversion payments also will be available to such participants if they reduce their wheat acreage at least 10 per cent below the farm allotment and devote the acreage to conserving use.

The marketing certificates are worth 75 cents a bushel for the domestic portion of the farm's wheat crop, based on 45 per cent of the normal production of the wheat acreage and 30 cents a bushel on the export portion, based on 35 per cent of the normal production from the wheat acreage.

Campbell pointed out that three general charges are made in the price support rate schedules for the 1965 crop of wheat. They deal with terminal rate adjustments, discontinuances of the sedimentation value tests and a readjustment of other premium and discount schedules.

Maloney Hurls No-Hitter For 10 Innings, Then Loses

Reds' Ace Beaten In 11th On HR

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Maloney should stick to one-hitters. At least he wins them.

The Cincinnati ace finally pitched a no-hitter Monday night — and lost.

Maloney, who has won three one-hitters, blazed through 10 innings of no-hit pitching before losing a two-hitter to the New York Mets, 1-0 on Johnny Lewis' leadoff home run in the 11th inning.

The 25-year-old right-hander thus joined eight other pitchers who went through nine innings of hitless hurling only to give up at least one hit in overtime and lose.

Maloney, who also tied a National League record by striking out 18, allowed only two baserunners before Lewis lofted a 2-1 pitch against the extension on the center-field wall. Roy McMillan later belted a meaningless single.

"The ball Lewis hit was a fast ball," Maloney said dejectedly in the Reds' clubhouse. "I tried to jam him but failed. He hit the same kind of pitch for a homer off me the last time the Mets were here."

Lewis, who struck out his first three times at bat, said he wasn't even sure it was a homer until he saw the umpires signaling.

Last pitcher to take a no-hitter into extra innings only to lose was Harvey Haddix, who hurled 12 innings of perfect ball for Pittsburgh against Milwaukee in 1959. Last year, Ken Johnson became the only pitcher ever to lose a no-hitter in nine innings when the Reds nipped Houston 1-0 on an error.

In other NL games Monday night, St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 5-2 and Chicago stopped Houston 2-0. In the American League, Cleveland edged New York 5-4 while rain washed out Baltimore at Boston.

Maloney, now 5-3, tied Warren Spahn's 1952 record of most strikeouts in an extra-inning NL game. The fastballer walked Ed Kranepool in the second inning and allowed Charlie Smith to reach first in the fourth on a wild pitch third strike.

The Reds had a chance to score a run in the fourth inning, but Vada Pinson was cut down at the plate, catcher Chris Cannizzaro to pitcher Frank Lary, trying to score from second on a passed-ball third strike.

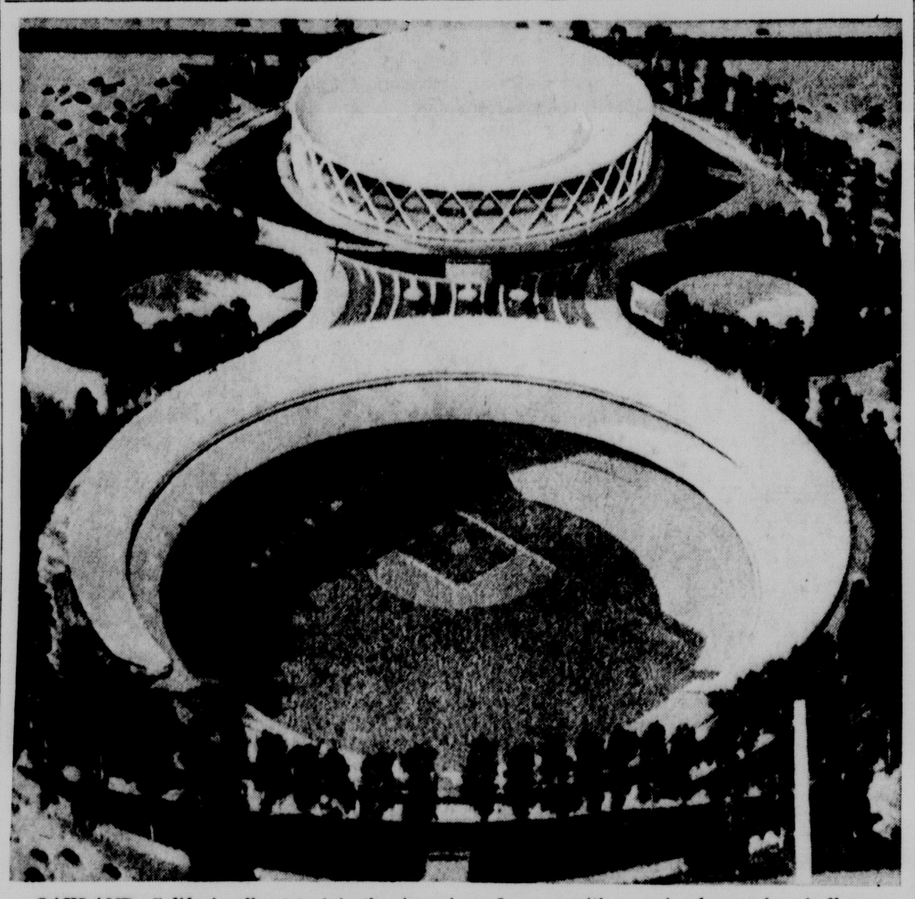

The Cardinals continued their two-season mastery over the Pirates, beating them for the 17th straight time. St. Louis snapped a 2-2 deadlock with two runs on Carl Warwick's grounder in the fifth. Julian Javier came home when the ball got through shortstop Gene Alley, and Bill White raced across as left fielder Bob Bailey bobbled the ball.

Larry Jackson ended a personal five-game losing streak while the Astros lost their seventh in a row. An infield out brought in a Chicago run in the first, and Ernie Banks drove in the other with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly.

A two-base throwing error by relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen paved the way for two unearned runs in the eighth inning that boosted Cleveland past the Yankees. Rocky Colavito singled across the tying run and scored the winning run as Joe Azcue singled.

NFL Chief Marshals Loop Forces For 'Battle Of Atlanta' With AFL

NEW YORK (AP)—Pete Rozelle is marshaling his National Football League forces for the mighty battle of Atlanta against the American Football League.

Chances are the NFL's adroit commissioner will muster the support he needs from the league's top echelon. And chances are his masterly finessing for the prized Dixie territory will pay off in victory.

Rozelle, who stepped in at the 11th hour to foil a possible uncontested grab of Atlanta by the AFL, has about two weeks to get the necessary backing from his 14 team owners to award a franchise to the Southern stronghold. Twelve yes votes will swing it, and the trend definitely is yes.

An Associated Press survey showed today that seven NFL clubs are on record as favoring the move into Atlanta in 1966.

They are the Baltimore Colts, Cleveland Browns, Dallas Cowboys, Detroit Lions, Minnesota Vikings, Philadelphia Eagles and Pittsburgh Steelers.

Owners of four other clubs — the New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals, Los Angeles Rams and Washington Senators — were not ready to commit themselves. And bosses of the Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and San Francisco 49ers were not available for comment.

There were no hints of a dissenting voice in the poll.

Should Rozelle be given the go-ahead, the next step would be to award the franchise — most likely to a syndicate headed by Lindsey Hopkins, an affluent Atlantan, and including Texas oilman John Mecom Jr. and Tony Hulman, who runs the Indianapolis Speedway.

Then would come the vital development — choosing a pro football tenant for Atlanta's imposing new $18-million stadium.

The AFL gave a franchise to the Cox Broadcasting Corp. of Atlanta last week, apparently under the impression the stadium was set. But after a pitch by Rozelle, the stadium authority announced it would not name a pro football tenant before July 1.

That gave Rozelle the time he needs to make a crash survey of the prospects, report to his owners, and take a vote.

Insiders feel the vote will be for expansion into Atlanta — and that, given the choice, Atlanta will go for the NFL.

Nicklaus Has $7,000 Edge In Golf Money

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus has nearly a $7,000 edge over Tony Lema in professional golf tournament winnings so far this season.

Nicklaus, top money winner of the Professional Golfers Association last year, was credited by the PGA this week with collecting $52,000 in PGA-sponsored tourneys and $10,788 in unofficial events.

Lema has official earnings of $50,164 and $5,650 in unofficial events.

'Best I Ever Pitched,' Cincinnati Hurler Says

CINCINNATI (AP) — "That's baseball I guess," Jim Maloney said softly. "I can't compare this game to any other. It's by far the best I've ever pitched."

Maloney was slumped in his chair. He couldn't recall exactly how it felt to lose after pitching 10 innings of no-hit baseball Monday night against the New York Mets.

The no-hitter came to a sudden halt in the top of the 11th when giant-killer Johnny Lewis, a .250 hitter, slugged a towering home run that gave New York a 1-0 victory over Maloney and the Cincinnati Reds.

Maloney's astonishing performance goes into the record books as 10-inning no-hitter. The 25 - year - old fireballing right-hander wound up with a two-hitter as the Mets' Roy McMillan cracked a single moments after the home run.

"Lewis hit a fast ball," Maloney said quietly, the sweat pouring off his overworked body. "I was just trying to keep the ball in on him and it got out just a little bit.

"He hit the same kind of pitch for a homer off me the last time the Mets were here."

What was going through Maloney's mind as the game wore on?

"I knew I had a no-hitter going and I wanted to pitch a no-hitter," he explained.

"That's what I try to do every time I start."

Maloney then lifted himself painfully from the chair, headed to the showers, but said over his shoulder:

"I'd just as soon win ball games as pitch a no-hitter."

Maloney has flirted with no-hit fame before, pitching three one-hitters. In his first start this year, April 19 against Milwaukee, he gave up just one hit, a single in the eighth to Denis Menke.

Last year, the Fresno, Calif., native pitched a one - hitter against the Mets, and in 1963 he hurled a one-hitter against the Chicago Cubs.

Maloney joins nine other pitchers who have hurled at least nine innings of no-hit ball, but then lost in extra innings.

Maloney did tie a National League strikeout record for an extra-inning game. He fanned 18 to equal the number Warren Spahn, then with the Braves, struck out in 15 innings against Chicago in 1952. Spahn is now with the Mets.

Three of Maloney's strikeouts came at the expense of Lewis, the Mets' right fielder. But in the 11th, Lewis eyed a 2-1 pitch, and slammed it against a center-field extension, just a few feet above the home-run line.

Half of Lewis' round-trippers have been against Cincinnati pitchers, and two of them also helped the Mets beat the Reds in two other games.

"I can't help but feel good," Lewis said. "But it was a heartbreaker for Maloney to lose. He threw good, real good. In fact, I never saw a pitcher throw as hard to me as Maloney did."

The homer didn't appear to shake up Maloney on the mound. He continued throwing hard and struck out Ron Swoboda. Then McMillan lashed a single to center. Maloney ended the inning by getting Jesse Gonder to hit into a double play. But the damage had been done.

Cincinnati made a vain try in its half of the 11th. Frank Robinson singled after two outs, but was stranded as Gordy Coleman grounded out.

Mauch Picked As Manager Of NL Stars

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies finished in a second-place tie last season, but their manager, Gene Mauch, has been placed in charge of the National League All-Star team.

League President Warren C. Giles announced Mauch's appointment Monday and said the American League manager will be named later this week.

The annual game between the All-Stars will be held July 13 at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

It has been baseball tradition that the managers of the two pennant-winning clubs will be in charge of the next year's All-Star teams, but both the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees managers left their jobs after the 1964 World Series.

Johnny Keane, who led St. Louis to its first world championship since 1946, is now manager of the Yankees. Yogi Berra, who managed the Yankees last year, is a coach with the New York Mets.

Tri-State clobbered First National, 35-16, Potters Savings trounced Taylor, Smith & Taylor, 25-6, and Rogers downed Pusatari, 15-12.

Randy Quinn pitched for Tri-State and at the plate ripped 2 triples and 2 singles. Randy Bosworth rapped 4 doubles and 2 singles. R. Jones had 4 singles for First National while Adkins contributed 2 singles.

Parfitt was the winning hurler for Potters Savings and hit safely 4 times. Jackson and Kuczynski each had 4 hits for the winners. Black and Hancock colllected 2 hits each for the losers.

Mike Linville was on the mound for Rogers and fanned 6. Stewart took the loss. Wayne Talbott crashed 2 doubles and Tom Bennett 2 singles for the winners. Schwartz rapped a double and 2 singles for Pusataris.

Manager Gil Hodges of the Washington Senators compiled a .273 batting average for 2,071 National League games.

Maloney Hurls No-Hitter For 10 Innings, Then Loses

Reds' Ace Beaten In 11th On HR

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Maloney should stick to one-hitters. At least he wins them.

The Cincinnati ace finally pitched a no-hitter Monday night — and lost.

Maloney, who has won three one-hitters, blazed through 10 innings of no-hit pitching before losing a two-hitter to the New York Mets, 1-0 on Johnny Lewis' leadoff home run in the 11th inning.

The 25-year-old right-hander thus joined eight other pitchers who went through nine innings of hitless hurling only to give up at least one hit in overtime and lose.

Maloney, who also tied a National League record by striking out 18, allowed only two baserunners before Lewis lofted a 2-1 pitch against the extension on the center-field wall. Roy McMillan later belted a meaningless single.

"The ball Lewis hit was a fast ball," Maloney said dejectedly in the Reds' clubhouse. "I tried to jam him but failed. He hit the same kind of pitch for a homer off me the last time the Mets were here."

Lewis, who struck out his first three times at bat, said he wasn't even sure it was a homer until he saw the umpires signaling.

Last pitcher to take a no-hitter into extra innings only to lose was Harvey Haddix, who hurled 12 innings of perfect ball for Pittsburgh against Milwaukee in 1959. Last year, Ken Johnson became the only pitcher ever to lose a no-hitter in nine innings when the Reds nipped Houston 1-0 on an error.

In other NL games Monday night, St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 5-2 and Chicago stopped Houston 2-0. In the American League, Cleveland edged New York 5-4 while rain washed out Baltimore at Boston.

Maloney, now 5-3, tied Warren Spahn's 1952 record of most strikeouts in an extra-inning NL game. The fastballer walked Ed Kranepool in the second inning and allowed Charlie Smith to reach first in the fourth on a wild pitch third strike.

The Reds had a chance to score a run in the fourth inning, but Vada Pinson was cut down at the plate, catcher Chris Cannizzaro to pitcher Frank Lary, trying to score from second on a passed-ball third strike.

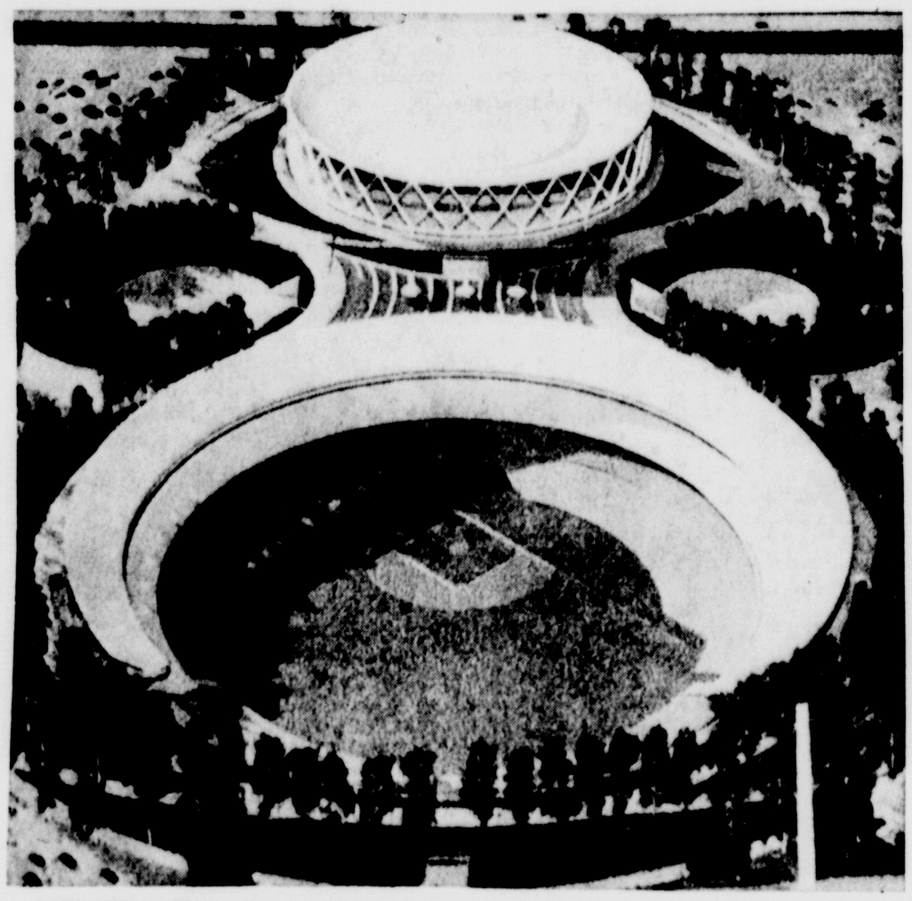

The Cardinals continued their two-season mastery over the Pirates, beating them for the 17th straight time. St. Louis snapped a 2-2 deadlock with two runs on Carl Warwick's grounder in the fifth. Julian Javier came home when the ball got through shortstop Gene Alley, and Bill White raced across as left fielder Bob Bailey bobbled the ball.

Larry Jackson ended a personal five-game losing streak while the Astros lost their seventh in a row. An infield out brought in a Chicago run in the first, and Ernie Banks drove in the other with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly.

A two-base throwing error by relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen paved the way for two unearned runs in the eighth inning that boosted Cleveland past the Yankees. Rocky Colavito singled across the tying run and scored the winning run as Joe Azcue singled.

Nicklaus Has $7,000 Edge In Golf Money

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus has nearly a $7,000 edge over Tony Lema in professional golf tournament winnings so far this season.

Nicklaus, top money winner of the Professional Golfers Association last year, was credited by the PGA this week with collecting $52,000 in PGA-sponsored tourneys and $10,788 in unofficial events.

Lema has official earnings of $50,164 and $5,650 in unofficial events.

'Best I Ever Pitched,' Cincinnati Hurler Says

CINCINNATI (AP) — "That's baseball I guess," Jim Maloney said softly. "I can't compare this game to any other. It's by far the best I've ever pitched."

Maloney was slumped in his chair. He couldn't recall exactly how it felt to lose after pitching 10 innings of no-hit baseball Monday night against the New York Mets.

The no-hitter came to a sudden halt in the top of the 11th when giant-killer Johnny Lewis, a .250 hitter, slugged a towering home run that gave New York a 1-0 victory over Maloney and the Cincinnati Reds.

Maloney's astonishing performance goes into the record books as 10-inning no-hitter. The 25 - year - old fireballing right-hander wound up with a two-hitter as the Mets' Roy McMillan cracked a single moments after the home run.

"Lewis hit a fast ball," Maloney said quietly, the sweat pouring off his overworked body. "I was just trying to keep the ball in on him and it got out just a little bit.

"He hit the same kind of pitch for a homer off me the last time the Mets were here."

What was going through Maloney's mind as the game wore on?

"I knew I had a no-hitter going and I wanted to pitch a no-hitter," he explained.

"That's what I try to do every time I start."

Maloney then lifted himself painfully from the chair, headed to the showers, but said over his shoulder:

"I'd just as soon win ball games as pitch a no-hitter."

Maloney has flirted with no-hit fame before, pitching three one-hitters. In his first start this year, April 19 against Milwaukee, he gave up just one hit, a single in the eighth to Denis Menke.

Last year, the Fresno, Calif., native pitched a one - hitter against the Mets, and in 1963 he hurled a one-hitter against the Chicago Cubs.

Maloney joins nine other pitchers who have hurled at least nine innings of no-hit ball, but then lost in extra innings.

Maloney did tie a National League strikeout record for an extra-inning game. He fanned 18 to equal the number Warren Spahn, then with the Braves, struck out in 15 innings against Chicago in 1952. Spahn is now with the Mets.

Three of Maloney's strikeouts came at the expense of Lewis, the Mets' right fielder. But in the 11th, Lewis eyed a 2-1 pitch, and slammed it against a center-field extension, just a few feet above the home-run line.

Half of Lewis' round-trippers have been against Cincinnati pitchers, and two of them also helped the Mets beat the Reds in two other games.

"I can't help but feel good," Lewis said. "But it was a heartbreaker for Maloney to lose. He threw good, real good. In fact, I never saw a pitcher throw as hard to me as Maloney did."

The homer didn't appear to shake up Maloney on the mound. He continued throwing hard and struck out Ron Swoboda. Then McMillan lashed a single to center. Maloney ended the inning by getting Jesse Gonder to hit into a double play. But the damage had been done.

Cincinnati made a vain try in its half of the 11th. Frank Robinson singled after two outs, but was stranded as Gordy Coleman grounded out.

Mauch Picked As Manager Of NL Stars

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies finished in a second-place tie last season, but their manager, Gene Mauch, has been placed in charge of the National League All-Star team.

League President Warren C. Giles announced Mauch's appointment Monday and said the American League manager will be named later this week.

The annual game between the All-Stars will be held July 13 at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

It has been baseball tradition that the managers of the two pennant-winning clubs will be in charge of the next year's All-Star teams, but both the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees managers left their jobs after the 1964 World Series.

Johnny Keane, who led St. Louis to its first world championship since 1946, is now manager of the Yankees. Yogi Berra, who managed the Yankees last year, is a coach with the New York Mets.

Court Lectures Motorist, Lifts Permit For 20 Days

A Wellsville district man accused of nearly running down a State Highway Patrolman who attempted to halt him on a speeding charge Frdiay night on the East Liverpool - Wellsville road was given a stern lecture today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who also suspended the defendant's permit for 20 days and fined him $20 and costs.

The defendant was Walter R. Hughes, 1121 Hillcrest Rd., nabbed in a radar check on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

Highway Patrolman Neil Gray said he had to leap to avoid being struck when the defendant failed to slow or stop, although the officer said the red light on his cruiser was flashing and he was standing in the highway with a flashlight.

The officer said he pursued Gray in the patrol car and finally halted him with the aid of the siren. He also noted that the defendant "had been drinking" and was carrying a six-pack of beer in his car.

"You nearly killed this officer," the judge commented after reading the officer's report. "I am toying with the idea of sending you to jail," he added. Hughes told the court he had consumed only one beer prior to his arrest.

Eight more motorists were penalized by the court, most as a result of weekend arrests by the patrol and local police.

Two were fined $5 and costs after they pleaded guilty to charges of failure to halt for a stop sign Monday at St. George and Mulberry Sts. They were identified as John Nick Flara of Chester R. D. 1 and Bruce A. Tatgenhorst, 23, of 306 Virginia Ave.

Larry M. Martin of Irondale R. D. 1 was fined $5 and costs on a patrol charge he did not halt for a stop sign Friday night at the junction of Township Rd. 926 and County Rd. 427. He pleaded guilty.

Francis M. Cornman of Dixonville drew a fine of $15 and costs on a charge of traveling 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone Friday night on the East Liverpool - Wellsville road. Cited by the patrol, he pleaded guilty.

Earl H. Ohnezeit, 1258 Pennsylvania Ave., was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge he crashed a traffic signal Sunday at 3:45 a. m. at E. 5th St. and Broadway.

The judge imposed a fine of $15 and costs on Thomas Terry McIlvain, 300 E. 3rd St., cited Wednesday on a charge of driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville road.

A continuance was granted until June 22 in the case of Darrell N. Leak, 1723 Cleveland Ave., cited Monday morning on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." on a charge of driving without an operator's permit.

A suspended $10 fine was given Earl Donald Hough, 782 Fenton St., when he pleaded guilty to a patrol charge of driving an auto with inadequate brakes Sunday on State Route 170. Hough advised the court the brakes have been repaired. He was ordered to pay the costs.

In a case that originated May 23 after a Pennsylvania Ave. traffic mishap, Charles Curtis, 1232 Harker Ave., was fined $15 and costs on a reckless driving charge and given a suspended 10-day jail sentence on a charge of failure to obey an officer's traffic orders.

Curtis had been convicted in a hearing May 24. The court then continued the case for sentencing to allow Curtis to show proof he had made arrangements to pay for the alleged damage to the other auto involved in the crash.

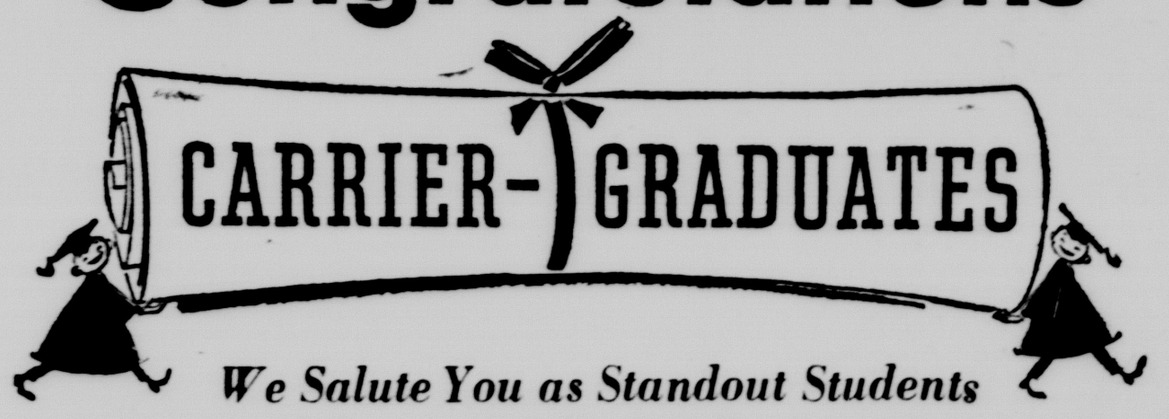

Curtis was represented by Atty. Jackman Vodrey.

We Salute You as Standout Students and Successful Young Businessmen

• THIS YEAR'S high school graduation classes again include a number of young men who deserve an especial word of commendation, for two reasons: They are not only high-ranking students, but enterprising young businessmen as well.

WHILE obtaining a high school education, they have operated their own newspaper routes successfully, and served the community well. By thus adding profitable business experience to their scholastic training, they are much better equipped to enter college or begin their work careers. What's more, from their newspaper routes they have earned much of the money needed for personal expenses and saving funds. For them the future looks exceptionally bright!

IN BEHALF of all their route customers, and everyone connected with this newspaper, we extend to them heartiest congratulations and best wishes for further success in college or the business world. Court Lectures Motorist, Lifts Permit For 20 Days

A Wellsville district man accused of nearly running down a State Highway Patrolman who attempted to halt him on a speeding charge Friday night on the East Liverpool - Wellsville road was given a stern lecture today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who also suspended the defendant's permit for 20 days and fined him $20 and costs.

The defendant was Walter R. Hughes, 1121 Hillcrest Rd., nabbed in a radar check on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

Highway Patrolman Neil Gray said he had to leap to avoid being struck when the defendant failed to slow or stop, although the officer said the red light on his cruiser was flashing and he was standing in the highway with a flashlight.

The officer said he pursued Gray in the patrol car and finally halted him with the aid of the siren. He also noted that the defendant "had been drinking" and was carrying a six-pack of beer in his car.

"You nearly killed this officer," the judge commented after reading the officer's report. "I am toying with the idea of sending you to jail," he added. Hughes told the court he had consumed only one beer prior to his arrest.

Eight more motorists were penalized by the court, most as a result of weekend arrests by the patrol and local police.

Two were fined $5 and costs after they pleaded guilty to charges of failure to halt for a stop sign Monday at St. George and Mulberry Sts. They were identified as John Nick Flara of Chester R. D. 1 and Bruce A. Tatgenhorst, 23, of 306 Virginia Ave.

Larry M. Martin of Irondale R. D. 1 was fined $5 and costs on a patrol charge he did not halt for a stop sign Friday night at the junction of Township Rd. 926 and County Rd. 427. He pleaded guilty.

Francis M. Cornman of Dixonville drew a fine of $15 and costs on a charge of traveling 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone Friday night on the East Liverpool - Wellsville road. Cited by the patrol, he pleaded guilty.

Earl H. Ohnezeit, 1258 Pennsylvania Ave., was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge he crashed a traffic signal Sunday at 3:45 a. m. at E. 5th St. and Broadway.

The judge imposed a fine of $15 and costs on Thomas Terry McIlvain, 300 E. 3rd St., cited Wednesday on a charge of driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville road.

A continuance was granted until June 22 in the case of Darrell N. Leak, 1723 Cleveland Ave., cited Monday morning on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." on a charge of driving without an operator's permit.

A suspended $10 fine was given Earl Donald Hough, 782 Fenton St., when he pleaded guilty to a patrol charge of driving an auto with inadequate brakes Sunday on State Route 170. Hough advised the court the brakes have been repaired. He was ordered to pay the costs.

In a case that originated May 23 after a Pennsylvania Ave. traffic mishap, Charles Curtis, 1232 Harker Ave., was fined $15 and costs on a reckless driving charge and given a suspended 10-day jail sentence on a charge of failure to obey an officer's traffic orders.

Curtis had been convicted in a hearing May 24. The court then continued the case for sentencing to allow Curtis to show proof he had made arrangements to pay for the alleged damage to the other auto involved in the crash.

Curtis was represented by Atty. Jackman Vodrey.

CARRIER-GRADUATES

We Salute You as Standout Students and Successful Young Businessmen

• THIS YEAR'S high school graduation classes again include a number of young men who deserve an especial word of commendation, for two reasons: They are not only high-ranking students, but enterprising young businessmen as well.

WHILE obtaining a high school education, they have operated their own newspaper routes successfully, and served the community well. By thus adding profitable business experience to their scholastic training, they are much better equipped to enter college or begin their work careers. What's more, from their newspaper routes they have earned much of the money needed for personal expenses and saving funds. For them the future looks exceptionally bright!

IN BEHALF of all their route customers, and everyone connected with this newspaper, we extend to them heartiest congratulations and best wishes for further success in college or the business world. We are glad indeed, to have shared in the development of these ambitious young men during their carrier-student days. We are proud of them.

THE REVIEW

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married three years and my problem is getting worse instead of better. My husband and I get along fine when there are just the two of us but whenever we are with family or friends I get dizzy spells and my heart begins to pound like a trip hammer. Sometimes my stomach gets tied up in knots and I become nauseated and can't eat.

When I'm with these same people and my husband is not present, I enjoy myself and feel just fine. I should tell you that my husband was not born in this country and his ways are a little different. My parents were opposed to our marriage but now they have accepted him. I've told myself that he is doing his best and I'm no longer ashamed of the way he speaks.

What is the matter with me? — WEE SALLY.

Dear Wee: You are having anxiety symptoms because of your subconscious feelings about your husband. Some people go through life half sick, dizzy, heart pounding, stomach in knots, without realyzing that their physical discomfort comes from unrelieved tension.

You need outside help. Go to your family doctor for a complete physical checkup, and ask him to direct you.

College Washout

Dear Ann: Here is a word of warning to the mother who wanted to know if she should insist that her 17-year-old daughter go to college.

Don't do it!!!!

My mother forced me to go to college when I was 17 because it was fashionable. I had no interest in college. I wanted to get a job. I knew my mother would never let up until she had her way, so I went.

I flunked out after the first semester and was sent home — disgraced. After several months my mother found another college that would take me. (It wasn't easy after a washout.) I flunked a second time and was sent home again.

That failure nearly caused me to have a nervous breakdown. I was sure I was a moron and not fit to live.

It took several weeks before I could get up the nerve to go out and look for work. Fortunately, I landed a perfect job. It gave me satisfaction, dignity and a feeling of personal worth. I've had two promotions in the last year and I'm happier now than I've ever been in my life.

I'm glad you told that ambitious mother college is not for everyone. If a person doesn't want to go he doesn't belong there. — TRUE STORY.

-:-

Dear Story: You are so right. In your case college actually was damaging. It accentuated your sense of failure and inadequacy. Thanks for sharing.

Blabbermouth

Dear Ann: Why does a person let his mouth run away with him and say things he shouldn't? Mostly I exaggerate and distort. After I come home from a meeting or a party, or even a back-fence visit, I hate myself.

I'm not a vicious person but often I feel an obligation to entertain people. Sometimes, in an attempt to be amusing, I go overboard. Then I become depressed and feel like biting off my tongue. Is there a cure for this? — BLABBERMOUTH.

Dear Blab: Make a conscious effort to speak less and listen more. A moment of silence is a pleasant and welcome sound.

Every man, woman and child at one time or another, has said things he wished he hadn't — and has regretted it —so don't feel you are a freak.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: We had friends in for steaks which we charcoal grilled. They were intrigued with my husband's method of controlling the flames (started by the dripping fat), and they suggested that I write to you.

He uses a toy water pistol (squirt gun) and, as a flame flares up, he "shoots" it out pronto.

We use this method both outdoors and indoors (in the fireplace) for our barbecue cooking. In fact, we have two guns, so that our company can participate if they want to!

RUTH JOHNSON.

DEAR HELOISE: I have found a neat way to fold nylon slips.

Turn the top of the slip inside (at the waistline), then you have a straight edge to fold.

The straps are on the inside, and the slips look neater in the drawer.

MRS. MICHAEL URDAL.

It's for sure YOU weren't behind - the - door when the brains were passed out!

Thank you for this dilly of an idea!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a whirlygig clothes line, I find that if you hang the longer things to the inside, and smaller things on the outer lines, that the breeze gets to the entire wash easier.

Also, things on the outside lines (being short), do not wrap themselves around the lines so easily.

MERLIN NEZELEK.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep several slates (quite inexpensive at dime stores), an eraser for each one, and white chalk, so when little folks are calling or visiting here, they have something to do that is not disturbing.

A rug or blanket on the floor keeps things in order.

And, believe it or not, pretty soon some grown up is down on the floor playing some game, printing for them, or drawing pictures.

The legs of an old card table were cut off down to the size where little folks could sit on the floor and use the table for games, lunches, etc.

MRS. B. KENYON.

Golly, I'll bet children LOVE to come to visit you.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: In regard to the bachelor who had trouble keeping his shirttail in. . . .

A grown man, who is single, should be able to solve these problems by himself—if he has been clever enough to stay single! ! !

CHARLIE.

DEAR HELOISE: When my husband used to take time out for smoking, I thought surely he'd crack the large ceramic ash tray when he'd give the pipe a necessary whack to loosen the pipe ashes and tobacco.

No more worries about this since I glued a big cork off-center, inside the ash tray.

He can safely hit the cork with his pipe, the ashes fall into the center of the ash tray, and, best of all, I know the cork is taking the jolt.

The original cork is still holding up after four months.

MRS. "FIX IT".

DEAR HELOISE: I change the pillow case on the dog's bed every time I change the family beds.

I made cases of tough cotton —just sacks really—that I slip over the mattress on his bed. It keeps the bed clean and helps keep him clean. Midweek, I turn the mattress over.

We do love the little rascal (25 pounds).

HELEN SNUSTAD.

Thousands Vaulted Over By Space Twins

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Johnson gave astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II spot promotions to lieutenant colonel, they vaulted over several thousand Air Force officers senior to them, sources said today.

McDivitt and White had been majors only since early December — a little more than six months.

In the normal course, they would have become eligible for promotions in the 1968 fiscal year, and probably would have been considered in fiscal 1970, the Air Force said.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married three years and my problem is getting worse instead of better. My husband and I get along fine when there are just the two of us but whenever we are with family or friends I get dizzy spells and my heart begins to pound like a trip hammer. Sometimes my stomach gets tied up in knots and I become nauseated and can't eat.

When I'm with these same people and my husband is not present, I enjoy myself and feel just fine. I should tell you that my husband was not born in this country and his ways are a little different. My parents were opposed to our marriage but now they have accepted him. I've told myself that he is doing his best and I'm no longer ashamed of the way he speaks.

What is the matter with me? — WEE SALLY.

Dear Wee: You are having anxiety symptoms because of your subconscious feelings about your husband. Some people go through life half sick, dizzy, heart pounding, stomach in knots, without realyzing that their physical discomfort comes from unrelieved tension.

You need outside help. Go to your family doctor for a complete physical checkup, and ask him to direct you.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Organizations Aid In Reading Programs

Early last summer I wrote a column suggesting ways to stimulate children to read books during the summer vacation. In response came a number of letters telling how a PTA and a Women's Club worked with the public library through the help of newspapers, local radio or the library itself to put on community - wide programs causing many children to read books in summer. Let me quote from a few of these letters:

Dr. Garry Myers

From the President of Bonham Parent - Teacher Association of El Paso, Texas:

"Our public library offered a program for children past the fourth grade but what of the younger children? Our little ones learned to read quite well in the first grade so we started a summer reading program which would include them. The older students may participate in either the Public Library or the PTA program or both. A student must read a minimum of twelve books in order to qualify for a certificate.

—:—

IN SEPTEMBER after reading lists are collected and compiled, a program is held. Then the certificates are passed out. A prize is given to the boy and girl who have read the most books. This program has been in effect for four years and each year sees more and more children participating."

From Pittsburgh, Kansas:

"My little six - year - old niece from Athens, Georgia, spent the biggest part of the summer here with us. Before she left home she had joined a 'Summer Reading Club for Boys and Girls.' This was sponsored by the City Library of Athens, Georgia.

For reading ten books they 'went into Outer Space'—for 25 books 'To the Moon.' Prizes were given for each. My niece finished her 25 books. She is a very good reader. Of course, they had to report on the books read and the author."

From Pueblo, Colorado:

"Our children are eleven and twelve years old, and for the last five years have been on the library honor roll. This is the way the library here encourages it—reading.

—:—

"A CHILD may read, and orally report, on as many books as he desires starting one week after school is out. For eight books, they receive a pin; for sixteen books, a bookmarker is given. War Hero Returns Award To Queen–Beatles Got One

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Air Force hero mailed his royal decoration—member of the Order of the British Empire — back to Queen Elizabeth II today because he objects to the Beatles getting the same honor.

Former squadron leader Paul Pearson said he meant no insult to the queen.

"I hope she will realize she has been tricked into making a political award by her ministers," he said.

Pearson, wartime leader of an air-sea rescue squad in the Straits of Dover, accused Prime Minister Harold Wilson of recommending the Beatles for the award as a vote-getting gimmick.

"The award has been cheapened and debased," he said. "Hundreds of thousands of people who served in the war must feel as I do."

Pearson is the second holder of the M.B.E. to send his insignia — a heavy silver cross — back to the queen in protest at the award to the Beatles.

Hector Dupis, a former member of the Canadian Parliament, mailed his Monday, complaining he had been placed on the same level as "vulgar nincompoops."

The Beatles, one of Britian's big dollar earners, were given the award in the queen's birthday honors list last week. Although made in the name of the queen, the royal honors are awarded on the recommendation of the prime minister.

The Beatles were saying nothing about the controversy.

No Calories 'Get Lost.'

Americans are in a fattening fix. Everybody loves to eat and nobody wants to be fat. To date there has been no scientific breakthrough, nor magic diet, for reducing. Now comes the 60 gram calculated Carbohydrate Diet. Does this diet permit you to eat all you want? Can calories be disregarded? The unscientific view of this limited carbohydrate diet would seem to make this rosy promise. So these were the first questions I asked of Major General Kenneth Pletcher, Deputy Surgeon General of the U.S. Air Force Medical Service.

Ida Jean Kain

"WE HAVE never advocated the eat - all - you - want plan. This is an implication that we cannot accept. We do not go to excesses in anything," was his unequivocal reply.

"Do you consider the 60 gram carbohydrate diet a safe plan for general use in reducing?" was my next query.

"We do not recommend any diet for general use. This low carbohydrate diet is adequate for a limited time. Frankly, we are nonplused by the reaction and the furor created by this diet. We deplore the fact that the diet has been so perverted, and that people have bent this diet to fit their purposes," he affirmed.

"We have used low carbohydrate diets and intend to continue to use them. But the term low carbohydrate is relative. The 60 grams is no magic figure; please make that point clear. We do not wish to restrict carbohydrates unreasonably. But, in our experimental diets, we find that when we go over 100 grams of carbohydrates, calories have to be curbed more carefully," he said.

General Pletcher believes that it is not only the quantity of carbohydrate that is important, but the quality as well. "The more refined carbohydrates are perhaps the most vicious so far as dietary adequacy is concerned," he feels.

"WHAT ABOUT alcohol?" was my next question.

"We have never advocated alcohol. While it is true that alcohol is burned rather than stored, alcohol calories supplant the energy demands that otherwise would be made on food. As to The Drinking Man's Diet being sponsored by the Air Force, you can refute that absolutely. We disagree with its title and with the inference," he said emphatically.

On the subject of unlimited calories, as spokesman for the U. S. Air Force Medical Service, General Pletcher expressed it this way: "The idea that you can have unlimited fat calories and that they will just disappear and not count in the body's economy is false. Such calories don't 'get lost.'

The overweights who reduce on the Calculated Carbohydrate Diet plan to not make up for this by gorging on unlimited amounts of fat or unrestricted amounts of food," he summed up.

Tomorrow: I sit down with the dietitian.

Organizations Aid In Reading Programs

Early last summer I wrote a column suggesting ways to stimulate children to read books during the summer vacation. In response came a number of letters telling how a PTA and a Women's Club worked with the public library through the help of newspapers, local radio or the library itself to put on community - wide programs causing many children to read books in summer. Let me quote from a few of these letters:

Dr. Garry Myers

From the President of Bonham Parent - Teacher Association of El Paso, Texas:

"Our public library offered a program for children past the fourth grade but what of the younger children? Our little ones learned to read quite well in the first grade so we started a summer reading program which would include them. The older students may participate in either the Public Library or the PTA program or both. A student must read a minimum of twelve books in order to qualify for a certificate.

—:—

IN SEPTEMBER after reading lists are collected and compiled, a program is held. Then the certificates are passed out. A prize is given to the boy and girl who have read the most books. This program has been in effect for four years and each year sees more and more children participating."

From Pittsburgh, Kansas:

"My little six - year - old niece from Athens, Georgia, spent the biggest part of the summer here with us. Before she left home she had joined a 'Summer Reading Club for Boys and Girls.' This was sponsored by the City Library of Athens, Georgia.

For reading ten books they 'went into Outer Space'—for 25 books 'To the Moon.' Prizes were given for each. My niece finished her 25 books. She is a very good reader. Of course, they had to report on the books read and the author."

From Pueblo, Colorado:

"Our children are eleven and twelve years old, and for the last five years have been on the library honor roll. This is the way the library here encourages it—reading.

—:—

"A CHILD may read, and orally report, on as many books as he desires starting one week after school is out. For eight books, they receive a pin; for sixteen books, a bookmarker is given. If the goal of twenty-four books are read and reported on, the child's name is placed on the Honor Roll, his name is printed in the paper, and at the first school assembly in September, they receive recognition."

Global Nuclear War Discounted By Eisenhower

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, saying he does not think a global nuclear war is possible, has warned the elite graduates of the Army War College they should be prepared, should one come.

Eisenhower, speaking at Monday's graduation, conceded his view of the future was an optimistic one.

"I do not believe nuclear war is possible, at least on a scale generally known as global," Eisenhower said in extemporaneous remarks.

"But then it is human to be optimistic. If war should come again, the military must be ready."

The class of 205 graduates included Lt. Col. George S. Patton III, son of the famed tank commander, Gen. George S. Patton.

Letter Sparks Feud

Ohio School Board Split Over Allocation Of Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A dispute over a new formula for allocating $7 million in federal aid to Ohio education split the State Board of Education Monday.

The long - smouldering feud over vocational school construction money which pits big city school districts against rural districts was sparked by a letter from Cleveland School Supt. Paul Briggs to Asst. State Supt. Harold J. Bowers.

The letter, presented to the board by members of Francis Gaul of Cleveland, criticizes Ohio Department of Education philosophy toward expansion of vocational education. Briggs said the present Ohio program "favors joint vocational school districts and separate vocational schools rather than a realistic development of the comprehensive high school."

Briggs suggested that the department's vocational education needs to "develop a better understanding of the vocational education problems of the big city."

He proposed in the letter a summer meeting to permit a "selected group" of school administrators to exchange some ideas with state board members and Education Department employes.

State Supt. of Public Instruction E. E. Holt ordered Byrl Shoemaker, vocational education director, to set up a meeting with school superintendents prior to the July 12 board meeting. At that time, the board also will take up the proposed formula changes.

At stake in the dispute is a total of nearly $27.5 million which Ohio is expected to receive under the Vocational Education Act of 1963.

In other action the board:

—Announced intention to revoke June 30, 1966, the charters of three highs schools (Brown-Zaleski, Haden and Wilton) in Vinton County.

—Transferred for school purposes 28 acres from Union-Scioto School District in Ross County to Chillicothe city schools.

—Recommended creation of a new school district from five school districts in Meigs County.

—Approved creation of joint vocational school districts in Richland, Seneca and Monroe counties.

Executive Starts Serving Term For Shooting At Jets

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 68-year - old Springfield business executive began serving a one-year term in a federal psychiatric ward today for shooting at Air Force jet bombers that flew over his farm.

"Since we cannot remove the noise of the planes from the farm," said U. S. District Judge Carl A. Weinman in sentencing Gilbert H. Hagerman Monday, "we must remove him."

Shots from Hagerman's high-powered rifle put several bullet holes in B-52 jet bombers from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base from March 1964 until his arrest by the FBI in December.

"It was extremely fortunate a serious catastrophe was averted," Judge Weinman said.

Hagerman, who had admitted shooting at the planes, said "the B-52s circled the woods and came back over the house and deliberately harassed me."

"My wife and I moved our bedroom downstairs 2½ years ago when they started," he said. "I wrote letters and complained.

"After I was arrested, they stopped for a while and we got up enough courage to move back upstairs, but after two weeks they started up again and that noise was so bad I couldn't sleep even under sedation.

"I'm trying to sell my farm. I've got to get out of there."

In handing out the sentence, which also included a $500 fine, Judge Weinman noted there is no law which makes shooting at military aircraft a crime. Hagerman was charged with damaging government property.

The judge said that because of the Hagerman case, Congress is considering a law to make shooting at military aircraft a serious offense.

Global Nuclear War Discounted By Eisenhower

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, saying he does not think a global nuclear war is possible, has warned the elite graduates of the Army War College they should be prepared, should one come.

Eisenhower, speaking at Monday's graduation, conceded his view of the future was an optimistic one.

"I do not believe nuclear war is possible, at least on a scale generally known as global," Eisenhower said in extemporaneous remarks.

"But then it is human to be optimistic. If war should come again, the military must be ready."

The class of 205 graduates included Lt. Col. George S. Patton III, son of the famed tank commander, Gen. George S. Patton.

Letter Sparks Feud

Ohio School Board Split Over Allocation Of Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A dispute over a new formula for allocating $7 million in federal aid to Ohio education split the State Board of Education Monday.

The long - smouldering feud over vocational school construction money which pits big city school districts against rural districts was sparked by a letter from Cleveland School Supt. Paul Briggs to Asst. State Supt. Harold J. Bowers.

The letter, presented to the board by members of Francis Gaul of Cleveland, criticizes Ohio Department of Education philosophy toward expansion of vocational education. Briggs said the present Ohio program "favors joint vocational school districts and separate vocational schools rather than a realistic development of the comprehensive high school."

Briggs suggested that the department's vocational education needs to "develop a better understanding of the vocational education problems of the big city."

He proposed in the letter a summer meeting to permit a "selected group" of school administrators to exchange some ideas with state board members and Education Department employes.

State Supt. of Public Instruction E. E. Holt ordered Byrl Shoemaker, vocational education director, to set up a meeting with school superintendents prior to the July 12 board meeting. At that time, the board also will take up the proposed formula changes.

At stake in the dispute is a total of nearly $27.5 million which Ohio is expected to receive under the Vocational Education Act of 1963.

In other action the board:

—Announced intention to revoke June 30, 1966, the charters of three highs schools (Brown-Zaleski, Haden and Wilton) in Vinton County.

—Transferred for school purposes 28 acres from Union-Scioto School District in Ross County to Chillicothe city schools.

—Recommended creation of a new school district from five school districts in Meigs County.

—Approved creation of joint vocational school districts in Richland, Seneca and Monroe counties.

Executive Starts Serving Term For Shooting At Jets

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 68-year - old Springfield business executive began serving a one-year term in a federal psychiatric ward today for shooting at Air Force jet bombers that flew over his farm.

"Since we cannot remove the noise of the planes from the farm," said U. S. District Judge Carl A. Weinman in sentencing Gilbert H. Hagerman Monday, "we must remove him."

Shots from Hagerman's high-powered rifle put several bullet holes in B-52 jet bombers from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base from March 1964 until his arrest by the FBI in December.

"It was extremely fortunate a serious catastrophe was averted," Judge Weinman said.

Hagerman, who had admitted shooting at the planes, said "the B-52s circled the woods and came back over the house and deliberately harassed me."

"My wife and I moved our bedroom downstairs 2½ years ago when they started," he said. "I wrote letters and complained.

In handing out the sentence, which also included a $500 fine, Judge Weinman noted there is no law which makes shooting at military aircraft a crime. Hagerman was charged with damaging government property.

The judge said that because of the Hagerman case, Congress is considering a law to make shooting at military aircraft a serious offense.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

ABC Grabs The Olympics

ABC has locked up TV rights to the 1968 winter Olympic Games at Grenoble, France, at a cost apparently exceeding $1 million. The announcement followed return to New York of Roone Arledge, vice president of ABC Sports, who negotiated the TV deal with the French Olympic committee. The games in the French Alps will begin in February 1968. Much of the ABC coverage is expected to be shown live in the U.S. via satellite, Arledge reported.

Richard Doan

ABC paid $650,000 for rights to the 1964 winter games in Innsbruck, Austria. According to one source, the network has paid close to twice that amount for the 1968 event.

The Innsbruck coverage ran 17½ hours over 13 successive days in prime time and won ABC an award for the best "single news or information program" of 1964.

-:-

NATIONAL Educational Television picked off a bigger cultural plum than generally has been realized when the program - producing organization supplanted CBS recently as the TV outlet for the September "anniversary" programs of New York's Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

CBS televised Lincoln Center's opening of Philharmonic Hall in 1962 and a first anniversary program in 1963 under a five-year agreement between the network and the center. A special also was telecast last year, but not under this pact.

CBS and Lincoln Center officials recently were disclosed to have agreed mutually to tear up the contract and the center announced its next anniversary program would be televised by NET through its 90-odd affiliated stations.

-:-

WHAT HAPPENED between CBS and the center has not been discussed publicly by either side, but the intimations have been that both were dissatisfied. Certainly it was not money. CBS paid the center $100,000 a year. NET will pay nothing—for rights, that is — but will spend upward of $90,000 on the anniversary program.

At any rate, there is considerably more to the new Lincoln Center - NET pact than the September special.

"The intent," said John F. White, NET president, "is to form a permanent relationship between the center and NET and to do two or three productions a year in drama, dance, opera and music."

WHITE EXPLAINED that while these plans have not yet been formalized, his organization and the center are "agreed in spirit" on the nature and extent of the undertaking.

The NET official indicated that the arrangement is essentially a quid pro quo affair in which the center will commission and execute program ideas and NET will tape and distribute them.

Indicating the importance NET attaches to the new association, "Lincoln Center Anniversary" officially will launch NET's 1965 - 66 programming year. The hour-long special will be shown simultaneously on stations from coast to coast on Wednesday night, Sept. 22.

The program will feature a drama, a ballet and an opera, all of capsule length, of course, and all created especially for TV.

The drama will be written by Pulitzer Prize - winning playwright Frank Gilroy ("The Subject Was Roses"). Anna Sokolow will choreograph a ballet sequence and Mark Bucci will compose the miniature opera for the occasion.

Viet Leaders Not Anxious For Use Of U.S. Troops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The battle of Dong Xoai has brought the Vietnamese war to a threshold that many Vietnamese commanders are not anxious to cross — the first use of American combat units in battle.

It seems inevitable that U.S. units will soon be out on their own in full-fledged warfare with the guerrilla enemy. They were on the verge of that at Dong Xoai, and part of the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade moved to within 20 miles of the fight.

They did not go in because Vietnamese generals did not want them. The brake was applied by Brig. Gen. Cao Van Vien, commander of the Vietnamese army's 3rd Corps, who was responsible for the operation.

"I think the Viet Cong is deliberately trying to draw American units into this fight," Vien said.

A number of top American officials agreed. It looked as if a primary objective of the Communists at Dong Xoai was to force commitment of the U.S. paratroopers to battle and perhaps to inflict enough casualties to make the Americans look bad.

The American commanders seemed ready to take the risk. They were armed with prior approval from Washington. The Vietnamese felt the gamble was not worth making, that it was better to commit their own reserves. Two battalions of Vietnamese troops were virtually wiped out at Dong Xoai.

At the root of Vietnamese reluctance to see the Americans move into the war more actively is an old bugbear of Vietnamese-American relations — national sovereignty.

Once the Americans commit units to open combat, it will be an American war. For all practical purposes, the Vietnamese command will have to cede at least some of its control to the foreign ally.

American officers argue that increased American control will improve efficiency and inject a new fighting spirit into the exhausted forces now facing the Viet Cong.

Many Vietnamese argue that an American army in Viet Nam will look too much like a French army and will turn increasing numbers of Vietnamese away from the government and toward the Viet Cong.

They also feel the Vietnamese army will tend to shrug its shoulders and say, "Why get killed now? The outcome depends on what the Americans do, not on us?"

Regarding future joint Vietnamese-American military operations, American officials say, "Details are still being worked out."

'Trains' Theme Of Meeting

"Trains" was the theme of a unique program presented by Dr. Herschel Rubin of East Liverpool at the annual father-son banquet Friday night at the First Christian Church.

Dr. Rubin and his son Lee, wearing neckerchiefs and trainmen's hats, screened a film, with sound track, of trains on an imaginary trip through the Pennsylvania mountains.

In keeping with the theme, the banquet tables were lined down the center with various sizes and models of trains. Candy - filled vagabond packs of red were the favors, amid a setting of signal lamps and signs of train excursions.

Special recognition awards were presented to Ray D. Thompson, oldest father present; the Rev. James Moxley, youngest father, and Don Carman, father with most sons present (four).

The affair was sponsored by the Christian Women's Fellowship, with Mrs. Jack Stockman, program chairman; Mrs. Harold Adams, decorations, and Mrs. Richard Mason, dinner preparation.

ABC Grabs The Olympics

ABC has locked up TV rights to the 1968 winter Olympic Games at Grenoble, France, at a cost apparently exceeding $1 million. The announcement followed return to New York of Roone Arledge, vice president of ABC Sports, who negotiated the TV deal with the French Olympic committee. The games in the French Alps will begin in February 1968. Much of the ABC coverage is expected to be shown live in the U.S. via satellite, Arledge reported.

Richard Doan

ABC paid $650,000 for rights to the 1964 winter games in Innsbruck, Austria. According to one source, the network has paid close to twice that amount for the 1968 event.

The Innsbruck coverage ran 17½ hours over 13 successive days in prime time and won ABC an award for the best "single news or information program" of 1964.

-:-

NATIONAL Educational Television picked off a bigger cultural plum than generally has been realized when the program - producing organization supplanted CBS recently as the TV outlet for the September "anniversary" programs of New York's Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

CBS televised Lincoln Center's opening of Philharmonic Hall in 1962 and a first anniversary program in 1963 under a five-year agreement between the network and the center. A special also was telecast last year, but not under this pact.

CBS and Lincoln Center officials recently were disclosed to have agreed mutually to tear up the contract and the center announced its next anniversary program would be televised by NET through its 90-odd affiliated stations.

-:-

WHAT HAPPENED between CBS and the center has not been discussed publicly by either side, but the intimations have been that both were dissatisfied. Certainly it was not money. CBS paid the center $100,000 a year. NET will pay nothing—for rights, that is — but will spend upward of $90,000 on the anniversary program.

At any rate, there is considerably more to the new Lincoln Center - NET pact than the September special.

"The intent," said John F. White, NET president, "is to form a permanent relationship between the center and NET and to do two or three productions a year in drama, dance, opera and music."

WHITE EXPLAINED that while these plans have not yet been formalized, his organization and the center are "agreed in spirit" on the nature and extent of the undertaking.

The NET official indicated that the arrangement is essentially a quid pro quo affair in which the center will commission and execute program ideas and NET will tape and distribute them.

Indicating the importance NET attaches to the new association, "Lincoln Center Anniversary" officially will launch NET's 1965 - 66 programming year. The hour-long special will be shown simultaneously on stations from coast to coast on Wednesday night, Sept. 22.

The program will feature a drama, a ballet and an opera, all of capsule length, of course, and all created especially for TV.

The drama will be written by Pulitzer Prize - winning playwright Frank Gilroy ("The Subject Was Roses"). Anna Sokolow will choreograph a ballet sequence and Mark Bucci will compose the miniature opera for the occasion.

People In News

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon described the effects that mental strain had had on political and diplomatic leaders. He spoke to a luncheon of the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry Monday.

Nixon recalled moments in the careers of Abraham Lincoln and Sir Winston Churchill that placed them under severe mental strain.

"Of course," he said, "we can't all be Winston Churchills. We all can't be president. I found that out."

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Singer Judy Garland remains in satisfactory condition at the University of California's Los Angeles medical center.

The 43-year-old singer was taken to the center Friday night from her Brentwood home after suffering what the hospital called an emotional upset.

WARSAW (AP) — Polish informants report Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka is in a Warsaw hospital with a blood-pressure ailment.

However, there was no confirmation and no official information on the health or whereabouts of the 60-year-old party leader. He was last seen in public May 30.

Dong Xoai Brought It Near

Viet Leaders Not Anxious For Use Of U.S. Troops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The battle of Dong Xoai has brought the Vietnamese war to a threshold that many Vietnamese commanders are not anxious to cross — the first use of American combat units in battle.

It seems inevitable that U.S. units will soon be out on their own in full-fledged warfare with the guerrilla enemy. They were on the verge of that at Dong Xoai, and part of the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade moved to within 20 miles of the fight.

They did not go in because Vietnamese generals did not want them. The brake was applied by Brig. Gen. Cao Van Vien, commander of the Vietnamese army's 3rd Corps, who was responsible for the operation.

"I think the Viet Cong is deliberately trying to draw American units into this fight," Vien said.

A number of top American officials agreed. It looked as if a primary objective of the Communists at Dong Xoai was to force commitment of the U.S. paratroopers to battle and perhaps to inflict enough casualties to make the Americans look bad.

The American commanders seemed ready to take the risk. They were armed with prior approval from Washington. The Vietnamese felt the gamble was not worth making, that it was better to commit their own reserves. Two battalions of Vietnamese troops were virtually wiped out at Dong Xoai.

At the root of Vietnamese reluctance to see the Americans move into the war more actively is an old bugbear of Vietnamese-American relations — national sovereignty.

Once the Americans commit units to open combat, it will be an American war. For all practical purposes, the Vietnamese command will have to cede at least some of its control to the foreign ally.

American officers argue that increased American control will improve efficiency and inject a new fighting spirit into the exhausted forces now facing the Viet Cong.

Many Vietnamese argue that an American army in Viet Nam will look too much like a French army and will turn increasing numbers of Vietnamese away from the government and toward the Viet Cong.

They also feel the Vietnamese army will tend to shrug its shoulders and say, "Why get killed now? The outcome depends on what the Americans do, not on us?"

Regarding future joint Vietnamese-American military operations, American officials say, "Details are still being worked out."

'Trains' Theme Of Meeting

"Trains" was the theme of a unique program presented by Dr. Herschel Rubin of East Liverpool at the annual father-son banquet Friday night at the First Christian Church.

Dr. Rubin and his son Lee, wearing neckerchiefs and trainmen's hats, screened a film, with sound track, of trains on an imaginary trip through the Pennsylvania mountains.

In keeping with the theme, the banquet tables were lined down the center with various sizes and models of trains. Candy - filled vagabond packs of red were the favors, amid a setting of signal lamps and signs of train excursions.

Special recognition awards were presented to Ray D. Thompson, oldest father present; the Rev. James Moxley, youngest father, and Don Carman, father with most sons present (four).

The affair was sponsored by the Christian Women's Fellowship, with Mrs. Jack Stockman, program chairman; Mrs. Harold Adams, decorations, and Mrs. Richard Mason, dinner preparation.

FENCE 'EM IN—FENCE 'EM OUT

Do you realize how valuable a fence can be? It can save the lives of your children and pets. If they must play in an area that is not fenced in then you are risking their lives. A fence increases the value of your property. It can provide complete privacy and can be used to close out undesirable views. It can end that squabble between you and your neighbor over property lines. Do you know that a 100 feet of fence costs no more than one months car payment on a new car and yet that fence will outlast that new car by 20 to 25 years. Would you like a fence that never needs painting, posts replaced every few years and is maintenance free? Why don't you frame that picture of your house with a beautiful fence. Think about all this and then decide if you can really afford to be without a fence. Call today and come out and see the finest wire & wooden fences on display.

FENCE 'EM IN—FENCE 'EM OUT

Do you realize how valuable a fence can be? It can save the lives of your children and pets. If they must play in an area that is not fenced in then you are risking their lives. A fence increases the value of your property. It can provide complete privacy and can be used to close out undesirable views. It can end that squabble between you and your neighbor over property lines. Do you know that a 100 feet of fence costs no more than one months car payment on a new car and yet that fence will outlast that new car by 20 to 25 years. Would you like a fence that never needs painting, posts replaced every few years and is maintenance free? Why don't you frame that picture of your house with a beautiful fence. Think about all this and then decide if you can really afford to be without a fence. Call today and come out and see the finest wire & wooden fences on display.

74 WANTED AUTOMOBILES

A A DEALER needs cars and pickups. Must be exceptionally sharp. Will pay cash or if payment too high will trade back to older model—finance balances paid off. "Say," why not trade back to one of the most economical cars in the world for approximately $1 a day. You can trade your big costly operating car for a like new Volkswagen with operating on 1c per mile, 5.3 pints of the best oil, get up to 43.2 miles on regular gas, up to 100,000 miles on your first set of tires. Make us prove it. You eliminate water pump, radiator, anti-freeze, hose, clamps, drive shaft assembly. It's a rear end air cooled engine. You can almost trade year for year for the price of power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seat, and automatic on your big costly operating car. Volkswagen has the lowest depreciation, providing you keep it sharp, highest trade in value. You pay less than $2,000 on some series. You pay less and save 50c out of every $1 when you drive a Volkswagen versus a big costly operating car. Why not join the millions of people who are driving the Volkswagen. There must be a reason. Come in, write, or call and talk to our courteous salesmen. SEE from your locality MR. CHUCK RINESTINE or MR. "SCOTTY" YOUNG. See it—Drive it—and you'll buy it. Beaver Valley Volkswagen. 294 State St., Vanport, Beaver, Pa. Your factory dealer only 20 miles from East Liverpool, Ohio on Pa. Rt. 68. 775-4550.

P. S. PARTS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY or on tap within 24 hours. STARTING JUNE 20TH Service almost immediately. Call Mr. Charles Coen, your local man from Wellsville and our service manager or Mr. Earl King, parts manager for more information.

74 WANTED AUTOMOBILES

A A DEALER needs cars and pickups. Must be exceptionally sharp. Will pay cash or if payment too high will trade back to older model—finance balances paid off. "Say," why not trade back to one of the most economical cars in the world for approximately $1 a day. You can trade your big costly operating car for a like new Volkswagen with operating on 1c per mile, 5.3 pints of the best oil, get up to 42.2 miles on regular gas, up to 100,000 miles on your first set of tires. Make us prove it. You eliminate water pump, radiator, anti-freeze, hose, clamps, drive shaft assembly. It's a rear end air cooled engine. You can almost trade year for year for the price of power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seat, and automatic on your big costly operating car. Volkswagen has the lowest depreciation, providing you keep it sharp, highest trade in value. You pay less than $2,000 on some series. You pay less and save 50c out of every $1 when you drive a Volkswagen versus a big costly operating car. Why not join the millions of people who are driving the Volkswagen. There must be a reason. Come in, write, or call and talk to our courteous salesmen. SEE from your locality MR. CHUCK RINESTINE or MR. "SCOTTY" YOUNG See it—Drive it—and you'll buy it. Beaver Valley Volkswagen. 294 State St., Vanport, Beaver, Pa. Your factory dealer only 20 miles from East Liverpool, Ohio on Pa. Rt. 68. 775-4550.

P. S. PARTS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY or on tap within 24 hours. STARTING JUNE 20TH Service almost immediately. Call Mr. Charles Coen, your local man from Wellsville and our service manager or Mr. Earl King, parts manager for more information.

"The club committee thought up the idea, sir—they're hoping to attract more members."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remove paint that has been spilled on concrete floors or driveways?

A.—By scrubbing with a strong solution of lye water, then rinsing the concrete well with clear water.

Q.—How can I easily clean plastic playing cards?

A.—Wipe them carefully and thoroughly with a cloth moistened in starch solution.

Q.—What is a good way to clean leather chairs?

A.—One way is to rub with a soft cloth dipped in ordinary milk — or better still, with beaten egg white. When dry, go over them again with a clean, soft cloth.

Q.—How can I make my own handy household glue?

A.—Here's one formula: To one cup of granulated laundry starch, add enough water to produce a liquid of whipping-cream consistency. Then bring the mixture to a boil, and allow to cool.

Q.—How can I redeem lemons that have hardened from long standing?

A.—You can freshen these lemons by covering them with boiling water and letting them stand for just a few minutes.

Q.—How can I clean straw matting?

A.—Wash with a cloth dampened in hot water, using a handful of salt to a bucket of hot water. Wash only a small area at a time, and wipe dry at once. This also prevents the matting from turning yellow.

Q.—How can I remove oil stains from cloth rugs?

A.—Treat them first with a cloth soaked in limewater — then wash, if necessary.

Junior Editors Quiz on LENSES

QUESTION: What is the difference between a convex and a concave lens and what are they used for?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Lenses are disc-shaped pieces of glass or transparent material, cut so they bend or change the direction of rays of light coming through them. The two most important ways in which lenses are ground are shown in our top picture in cross-section. Doubleconvex lenses have both sides curving outward; light rays coming through are refracted or bent so they all come together in one point or focus. In double-concave lenses, the sides curve inward; these widen out the rays of light instead of bringing them together. Lenses have a great many uses. Nature has placed a little lens in front of each of our eyes. If these do not focus on the back of the eyeball, we use other lenses called eyeglasses to correct the focus so we can see things sharply. Lenses focus images on sensitive camera film, and enlarge vision when used as magnifying glasses, microscopes and telescopes. It's great fun to make the telescope in our picture. Find a mailing tube for the main part and another smaller tube (or make one of stiff rolled cardboard) to go inside of it. Tape lenses inside. You can get these in shopping centers from old cameras or optical goods, but be sure you don't use anything that belongs to somebody else.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: If the telescope project looks too difficult, find a magnifying glass. Hold it close to your eye and look at something across the room, which will be blurred but upright. Move the glass away and the object will blurr into nothing, suddenly appearing again sharp and clear upside down. You'll learn reason for this when you study physics.

Action Which Bans Job Discrimination

Law Not Expected To Stir Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will the new federal law banning job discrimination spark a rash of court suits across the country?

Will employers have to hire a certain number of Negroes or other minority groups to comply with the law?

—:—

THE LAW forbidding employment discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex or national origin is heavily geared to persuasion and cooperation among federal and state governments, employers, labor unions and employment agencies.

Only after exhausting a long procedure will court action be taken as a last resort in any particular case.

"There is really no way to eliminate discrimination in employment by law," Asst. Atty. Gen. Norbert A. Schlei told a group of businessmen recently.

The law is needed, he said, but only the willing cooperation of "people like you" will make it work.

On the question of whether the law will require racial job quotas, Schlei and other officials point out this would be "discrimination in reverse."

—:—

THE LAW specifically states that no one is required to give job preference to any minority group "on account of any imbalance which may exist with respect to the total number or percentage of persons of any race, color, religion, sex or national origin."

This was written into the law to quiet the most often expressed fear—that of job quotas—voiced during the debate in Congress.

How, then, will the law work—just what are employers, labor unions and employment agencies required to do?

The key to the operation of the law is the new five-man Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

Congress, in directing the commission to use "informal methods of conference, conciliation and persuasion" to eliminate job bias, backed it up with stiff penalties.

—:—

ANY OFFICER or employe of the commission who makes public any information about a preliminary investigation without the written consent of the parties can be fined $1,000 and jailed for a year.

This was designed to keep the heat of public pressure off a particular case during efforts to find a mutual solution short of court action.

But the prohibition on publication ends when a case gets to the stage of a formal hearing after conciliation and persuasion fail.

In 26 states which have laws forbidding job discrimination, anyone with a complaint must first exhaust the state procedure before asking the federal commission to step in.

This also applies where there is a local anti-discrimination law, even if there is no state law.

—:—

THE COMMISSION must give the state or city 60 days (120 days in the first year) to act on a complaint before taking federal action. The commission can grant the state or city up to 60 days more if needed to get voluntary compliance.

If that doesn't work, a civil suit can be filed but the federal court can delay action another 60 days in a further effort to get voluntary compliance.

Some of the states have stronger equal employment laws than the federal statute. Delaware, Idaho, Iowa and Vermont, for instance, provide criminal penalties. The other states are Alaska, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Washington and Wisconsin.

Once a complaint under the new federal law runs the gamut of state or local procedures and federal efforts at voluntary settlement, it can finally wind up in federal court.

The federal commission cannot file a civil suit in federal court on its own. It must have an individual complainant who alleges discrimination.

But the U.S. attorney general can file a suit in any case deemed of sufficient public importance and involving a pattern of resistance to the law.

The commission can ask for reports on the racial makeup of a company's work force.

This already is required by the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity which combats discrimination in firms with federal contracts.

Fear Worst In 70 Years

Severe Drought Plagues Northeast, Crops Periled

(By The Associated Press)

A severe drought is plaguing most of the northeast United States, causing water shortages and threatening crops, an Associated Press survey shows.

"If we don't have about three weeks of rain, we'll have the worst drought in 70 years," says Herbert W. Peabody, of the eastern division of the Federal Extension Service in Newport, R.I.

One Rhode Island city, East Providence, has taken steps to curtail the use of water for watering lawns.

New York is one of the hardest-hit states. Crops are affected. Experts predict a situation similar to last year when 35 of 62 counties were declared drought-disaster areas.

In Onondaga County in central New York, the situation is the worst since 1907. Reservoir supplies are down 37 inches from last year.

Syracuse is building a 30-mile, $45-million pipeline to tap Lake Ontario.

Albany, the New York capital, must cut consumption by five million gallons a day — to about 20 million.

Throughout upstate New York, local governments have banned lawn-watering and car-washing among other water conservation measures.

In New York City all ornamental fountains have been ordered shut off. Restaurants are not permitted to serve patrons a glass of water unless specifically asked.

The U.S. Geological Survey district engineer says Maine has a "serious but not yet critical" drought condition. The engineer says that if the June rainfall is much below normal, some curtailment of the public water supply must be expected.

In Vermont, the outlook is bad for the hay crop, which would cause higher hay prices for dairy farmers, according to Agriculture Commissioner Raymond G. Rowley. Lake Champlain is near an all-time low level.

Recent rains have helped alleviate a drought situation in Connecticut, but rain generally is still about 5½ inches below normal since Jan. 1. Some water restrictions are in effect.

Nurserymen in western Massachusetts have stopped digging up plants, selling only trees and shrubs already on hand.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes has declared a state of emergency in four northern counties and the city of Elizabeth to combat a critical water shortage. The restrictions include use of public water for car washing, watering of lawns and streets.

In New Hampshire, the outlook is reported gloomy for hay crops, especially in the western area of the state. The legislature was asked to approve a $100,000 contract for cloud seeding.

In some states, however, recent rains have helped tremendously.

In Maryland, heavy rains rescued the state from what could have been severe truck crop damage in the millions of dollars. Strawberry crops benefitted particularly.

After a serious two-month drought, almost all sections of Florida had substantial rains over a period of four days last week, except Everglades Park.

In some areas, rains measured as much as 10 inches. Everglades Park, which would need 10 inches to offset the drought conditions which caused a heavy loss of bird and animal life, got only about two inches.

No agriculture losses were reported.

Recent widespread rains also broke the grip of the drought in several other states including Mississippi, Georgia, Texas, Colorado and Nebraska.

Two Are Sentenced In Beer-Buying Case

LISBON — Two were sentenced to jail Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old East Liverpool youth by purchasing him beer and allowing him to consume it in their presence.

Edward Sisco, 23, of 438 Pennsylvania Ave., Rochester, and Larry B. Marshall, 18, MC 20, East Liverpool, were sentenced to two months in County Jail and fined $25. All but one week of the jail sentence was suspended by the court. They also were ordered not to associate with any juvenile.

The juvenile involved was placed on probation to his parents and a 7 p. m. curfew unless accompanied by one of his parents.

Death Of Lion Halts Effort To Keep Him As Pet

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP) — Leo the lion, who looked more like a jester than the king of beasts, died Monday night, cutting short his master's legal attempts to keep him as a household pet.

Leo, a scrawny animal, with no teeth, no claws, no mane, and whose legs were bowed from rickets, died at a veterinarian's hospital where he was taken for an intestinal obstruction. His master, Howard Sautter, was at his side.

"I wish I could cry," said Sautter, 52 a garage operator, "I just get a lump in my throat."

For several months Sautter had been waging a legal battle with the Abington Township Commission to keep Leo as a pet. Leo's home was in Sautter's garage in this Philadelphia suburb.

The battle started when neighbors complained that Leo's roaring kept them awake and they were afraid he would get loose and endanger the neighborhood.

Planning Step Asked Of Council At Lisbon

LISBON — The advantages of a planning commission were outlined by Robert Williams, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, when he appeared before Lisbon Council Monday night.

Williams outlined the formation of such an organization and urged Council to join the Columbiana County regional planning group.

Mayor Dean Stockman appointed the following committee —Robert Kelm, chairman, Mrs. Blanche Neill and Clyde B. Pike — to study William's suggestions and present a recommendation at the next Council session.

Stockman also reported on progress to date to have the Manos theater building either repaired or torn down. He said the state fire marshal and Fire Chief Thirl Flugan had made another inspection of the former plush movie house and found it in dire need of repairs. They re-emphasized the danger to pedestrians, the mayor said.

George Manos, the owner, will be sent a registered letter advising that he has 10 days in which to repair the theater or 60 days in which to tear it down and remove all debris.

The theater is also posted by the county treasurer as having a tax lien on it and the Prosecutor's office is preparing an abstract as a forerunner to foreclosing, Council was told.

Kelm reported on the police pension fund. He reported the fund at present is in good condition, with $62.50 contributed each month by four policemen. Two former officers are collecting $371.69, he said. The auditor also puts a 3-10 of mill in the fund from real estate taxes and at the present time the fund totals $29,807.89.

Clerk-Treasurer Ray Hempstead reported on the Sadie VanFossan Memorial Swimming pool fund. He said bills of $833 have been paid, with approximately $1,000 realized from the sale of tickets. He said the pool should be able to operate and meet payrolls at least until next month.

Miss Ruth Bye, a member of the Garden Club, asked if Council would object to several members planting and trimming hedge on the Village Square. They were given permission to go ahead with their plans.

Mrs. Robert Brown asked if Council was going to blacktop the alley east of the new post office south to Washington St. She said water lies in the alley since the post office drains in that direction. Also, a hole was reported on E. Lincoln Way in front of the Henry Funeral Home.

Council also discussed requests for oiling alleys, but at present time explained no money is available.

J. H. Goldsberry quoted Council a price of $40 to take a tree down across from the front of the courthouse on S. Market St. He said that the rope he put up on the flagpole on the square had been cut and needed another one. Council said it would check and advise him on both jobs.

Bills of $7,634.18 were ordered paid. Council's next meeting will be July 12 at 7:30 p. m.

Action Which Bans Job Discrimination

Law Not Expected To Stir Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will the new federal law banning job discrimination spark a rash of court suits across the country?

Will employers have to hire a certain number of Negroes or other minority groups to comply with the law?

The answer to both questions, federal officials say, is an emphatic no.

THE LAW forbidding employment discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex or national origin is heavily geared to persuasion and cooperation among federal and state governments, employers, labor unions and employment agencies.

Only after exhausting a long procedure will court action be taken as a last resort in any particular case.

"There is really no way to eliminate discrimination in employment by law," Asst. Atty. Gen. Norbert A. Schlei told a group of businessmen recently.

The law is needed, he said, but only the willing cooperation of "people like you" will make it work.

On the question of whether the law will require racial job quotas, Schlei and other officials point out this would be "discrimination in reverse."

—:—

THE LAW specifically states that no one is required to give job preference to any minority group "on account of any imbalance which may exist with respect to the total number or percentage of persons of any race, color, religion, sex or national origin."

This was written into the law to quiet the most often expressed fear—that of job quotas—voiced during the debate in Congress.

How, then, will the law work—just what are employers, labor unions and employment agencies required to do?

The key to the operation of the law is the new five-man Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

Congress, in directing the commission to use "informal methods of conference, conciliation and persuasion" to eliminate job bias, backed it up with stiff penalties.

—:—

ANY OFFICER or employe of the commission who makes public any information about a preliminary investigation without the written consent of the parties can be fined $1,000 and jailed for a year.

This was designed to keep the heat of public pressure off a particular case during efforts to find a mutual solution short of court action.

But the prohibition on publication ends when a case gets to the stage of a formal hearing after conciliation and persuasion fail.

In 26 states which have laws forbidding job discrimination, anyone with a complaint must first exhaust the state procedure before asking the federal commission to step in.

This also applies where there is a local anti-discrimination law, even if there is no state law.

THE COMMISSION must give the state or city 60 days (120 days in the first year) to act on a complaint before taking federal action. The commission can grant the state or city up to 60 days more if needed to get voluntary compliance.

If that doesn't work, a civil suit can be filed but the federal court can delay action another 60 days in a further effort to get voluntary compliance.

Some of the states have stronger equal employment laws than the federal statute. Delaware, Idaho, Iowa and Vermont, for instance, provide criminal penalties. The other states are Alaska, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Washington and Wisconsin.

Once a complaint under the new federal law runs the gamut of state or local procedures and federal efforts at voluntary settlement, it can finally wind up in federal court.

The federal commission cannot file a civil suit in federal court on its own. It must have an individual complainant who alleges discrimination.

But the U.S. attorney general can file a suit in any case deemed of sufficient public importance and involving a pattern of resistance to the law.

The commission can ask for reports on the racial makeup of a company's work force.

This already is required by the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity which combats discrimination in firms with federal contracts.

Fear Worst In 70 Years

Severe Drought Plagues Northeast, Crops Periled

(By The Associated Press)

A severe drought is plaguing most of the northeast United States, causing water shortages and threatening crops, an Associated Press survey shows.

"If we don't have about three weeks of rain, we'll have the worst drought in 70 years," says Herbert W. Peabody, of the eastern division of the Federal Extension Service in Newport, R.I.

One Rhode Island city, East Providence, has taken steps to curtail the use of water for watering lawns.

New York is one of the hardest-hit states. Crops are affected. Experts predict a situation similar to last year when 35 of 62 counties were declared drought-disaster areas.

In Onondaga County in central New York, the situation is the worst since 1907. Reservoir supplies are down 37 inches from last year.

Syracuse is building a 30-mile, $45-million pipeline to tap Lake Ontario.

Albany, the New York capital, must cut consumption by five million gallons a day — to about 20 million.

Throughout upstate New York, local governments have banned lawn-watering and car-washing among other water conservation measures.

In New York City all ornamental fountains have been ordered shut off. Restaurants are not permitted to serve patrons a glass of water unless specifically asked.

The U.S. Geological Survey district engineer says Maine has a "serious but not yet critical" drought condition. The engineer says that if the June rainfall is much below normal, some curtailment of the public water supply must be expected.

In Vermont, the outlook is bad for the hay crop, which would cause higher hay prices for dairy farmers, according to Agriculture Commissioner Raymond G. Rowley. Lake Champlain is near an all-time low level.

Recent rains have helped alleviate a drought situation in Connecticut, but rain generally is still about 5½ inches below normal since Jan. 1. Some water restrictions are in effect.

Nurserymen in western Massachusetts have stopped digging up plants, selling only trees and shrubs already on hand.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes has declared a state of emergency in four northern counties and the city of Elizabeth to combat a critical water shortage. The restrictions include use of public water for car washing, watering of lawns and streets.

In New Hampshire, the outlook is reported gloomy for hay crops, especially in the western area of the state. The legislature was asked to approve a $100,000 contract for cloud seeding.

In some states, however, recent rains have helped tremendously.

In Maryland, heavy rains rescued the state from what could have been severe truck crop damage in the millions of dollars. Strawberry crops benefitted particularly.

After a serious two-month drought, almost all sections of Florida had substantial rains over a period of four days last week, except Everglades Park.

In some areas, rains measured as much as 10 inches. Everglades Park, which would need 10 inches to offset the drought conditions which caused a heavy loss of bird and animal life, got only about two inches.

No agriculture losses were reported.

Recent widespread rains also broke the grip of the drought in several other states including Mississippi, Georgia, Texas, Colorado and Nebraska.

Death Of Lion Halts Effort To Keep Him As Pet

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP) — Leo the lion, who looked more like a jester than the king of beasts, died Monday night, cutting short his master's legal attempts to keep him as a household pet.

Leo, a scrawny animal, with no teeth, no claws, no mane, and whose legs were bowed from rickets, died at a veterinarian's hospital where he was taken for an intestinal obstruction. His master, Howard Sautter, was at his side.

"I wish I could cry," said Sautter, 52 a garage operator, "I just get a lump in my throat."

For several months Sautter had been waging a legal battle with the Abington Township Commission to keep Leo as a pet. Leo's home was in Sautter's garage in this Philadelphia suburb.

The battle started when neighbors complained that Leo's roaring kept them awake and they were afraid he would get loose and endanger the neighborhood.

Planning Step Asked Of Council At Lisbon

LISBON — The advantages of a planning commission were outlined by Robert Williams, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, when he appeared before Lisbon Council Monday night.

Williams outlined the formation of such an organization and urged Council to join the Columbiana County regional planning group.

Mayor Dean Stockman appointed the following committee —Robert Kelm, chairman, Mrs. Blanche Neill and Clyde B. Pike — to study William's suggestions and present a recommendation at the next Council session.

Stockman also reported on progress to date to have the Manos theater building either repaired or torn down. He said the state fire marshal and Fire Chief Thirl Flugan had made another inspection of the former plush movie house and found it in dire need of repairs. They re-emphasized the danger to pedestrians, the mayor said.

George Manos, the owner, will be sent a registered letter advising that he has 10 days in which to repair the theater or 60 days in which to tear it down and remove all debris.
